Preparing the Fire While You Are Down, Think B. P. O. E. Fine Motto Chicago's Show Window

By Arthur Brisbane

Two negroes burned alive in Texas. This isn't "big news," since it happens often. A disagreeable detail shows the men "dragged to the fair grounds, where a stake and fuel had been PREPARED." What men do in bestial rage, after the mob spirit has transformed them into a pack of howling wolves, is one thing. What they PREPARE cold bloodedly, in advance, is another thing and with more meaning.

Another feature of the double burning alive is unpleasant, and also not news, because it isn't new. Sheriff Clarkson suggests that the mob, very probably, "burned the wrong men."

Say to young America: "Themistocles saved Greece," people will answer, "I am tired of Themistocles, I had enough of him at school," but say "White, the hard Chicago fighter, was knocked out by Benny Leonard, the little Jewish cyclone, last Monday night, because White, when he was down, couldn't think." Then youth will listen.

Prize Fighter White, knocked to the floor when he had almost won the battle, should have laid still while the referee counted nine, letting his heart rest, collecting his senses after the knockdown blow, asking himself "What mistakes did I make?" Planning just how to resume the fight. That is what Benny Leonard would have done if he had been knocked down. He would have devoted nine seconds to thinking, then, getting up, he would have fought better than before.

Mr. White can fight, but he can't think, especially after a knockdown blow. He jumped to his feet in half a second instead of lying still for his alloted nine seconds, thinking out what mistakes he had made. That was the end of him.

The moral is, when you get a knockdown blow, when things go wrong, when you find yourself flat or in danger of being flattened, do a little thinking. Blame yourself, ask yourself what mistakes you have made. Don't foolishly blame the world, for it will always knock you down if it can, exactly as Mr. Leonard will always knock down his opponent.

It is interesting to see the name Roosevelt on a Presidential ticket, and in the second place, where the name Roosevelt originally started out toward the Presidency. If Theodore came back he might exclaim, "copy cat." He certainly wouldn't like it.

Mr. Koenigsberg, learned chief of the International News Service, says, "Don't underestimate the value of Roosevelt's name on that ticket. At least three hundred thousand men, living in the backwoods, coming to town once in three months, will vote for Franklin Roosevelt, thinking they are voting for the original Roosevelt, not knowing that he is dead."

That's an interesting comment on free and independent government, and there is truth in it. For the deeper his ignorance the more a man objects to information and the less inclined he is to ask for the truth.

The ancient and honorable organization of Elks, led by their "Grand Exalted Ruler," inspired by their "Grand Esteemed Leading Knight, Grand Esteemed Loyal Knight, Grand Esteemed Lecturing Knight," etc., are in Chicago. And everywhere you see posted up the magic letters "B. P. O. E." The meaning of these magic letters is "Be Posted on Everything."

An ambitious program and never to be realized. No human brain is big enough or is long enough to be posted on EVERYTHING. Nevertheless, it is a good program. Little humans must "aim high to shoot low," as the colored gentleman said when he first asked Grover Cleveland to make him librarian of Congress. Then he admitted that he couldn't read, and really expected to be appointed a janitor.

While the Elks are in Chicago the important cities of the United States, especially New York, should send commissions to report Chicago's method of making an entire city co-operate in a big welcome. New York, which has seen Fifth avenue deteriorate from one of the handsomest streets in the country to one of the ugliest, could learn something by studying Michigan avenue, which, in the language of Walter Howey, editor of the Herald and Examiner, has "risen from deuce to ace in a few years."

It is one of the three handsomest streets in the whole world, the other two being in Paris and Budapest. Chicago knows how to use a great street, how to make it the beautifully decorated show window of a great city.

The Meadows Manufacturing Company built a new plant at Bloomington, Illinois. They invited a clergyman to open the plant with an old-fashioned prayer meeting. The meeting was a success, good omen for the plant.

It is a good idea to express gratitude earnestly and often. Nathan Straus, intelligent philanthropist, grateful for what he has received, and especially grateful for what he has been able to do for the children of others, begins every prayer with these words: "Lord, You know how grateful I am, I don't need to tell You about it." Could you suggest a better beginning for a successful man's prayer?

GERMANS GET NEW TERMS

Report on Trials of War Criminals Demanded by Allies at Spa

London, July 8.—The British dreadnought Iron Duke, with her 13-inch guns, is bombarding the inland positions of the Turkish Nationalists near the Bosphorus, said a Constantinople despatch to the Evening News today. The fire is being directed by airplane. British destroyers are shelling the Turkish positions on the Osian Coast.

By International News Service.

Spa, Belgium, July 8.—Following a night conference with the Germans, allied experts today drew up a formal reply to the German counter-proposals on disarmament.

It was stated the answer gives definite reply to Germany's request for fifteen months in which to disarm.

M. Hymans of the Belgian delegation was authorized to address the German delegation in the name of the allies this afternoon, demanding a report on the trials of German war criminals.

It was definitely stated that the Spa conference will end Monday as Premier Millerand must return to Paris. It is unlikely the indemnity question will be settled by that time, making another conference necessary.

While the Germans asked for fifteen months in which to reduce their army to 100,000 men and destroy war material in accordance with the treaty terms, it was reported when today's meeting opened that Premier Lloyd George would demand that Germany disarm within six or eight months.

This would be a concession to Germany, for under the old terms, the Germans should have carried out the allies' disarmament demands by the middle of this month.

It was understood that Premier Millerand and Premier Delacroix of Belgium were in complete accord with the British Prime Minister on the length of time that should be given Germany to disarm.

The Germans were frank in admitting that they have great masses of men under arms, the number being put at more than 1,000,000.

Proceedings at Spa Please French Press

Paris, July 8.—French newspapers today expressed satisfaction with the proceedings at Spa.

"The Germans at last understand that they must accept the Allies' terms," said Clemenceau's newspaper, L'Homme Libre.

"The question of German disarmament will be settled in accordance with French desires," said Avenir.

Eclair insists that the French shall not "abandon their legitimate financial demands."

"The engagements undertaken by Germany at Spa are valuable only if she is forced to keep up them," said Petit Bleu.

First Full Facts of Barney's Vacation

How in escaping from the Charlestown State Prison Herman L. Barney simply walked into another state of bondage—that of the auto hieves' gang—is described in today's installment of the Boston American's exclusive story of Barney's escape. The preparations for Barney's flight from Cambridge are also described.

Herman L. Barney, a free man, after his escape from the State Prison at Charlestown—his second getaway from a "college" in this State, as he terms correctional institutions—feared no man. But he did fear bad luck, and the very fact that his escape, because of his fatal nap, had been marked with bad luck loomed before his eyes as an evil omen.

Yet at intervals he managed to dispel this vision of Nemesis, and there were times when the ring of men who directed his plans had all they could do to keep him within the bounds of caution. In fact, as will be told later on, he once incurred their anger and endangered his freedom by deliberately disobeying their orders at a most crucial moment in order to pay a visit to his sweetheart.

FEARED BAD LUCK.

Even though the Barney who picked his way slowly up the Boston & Maine Railroad tracks after getting out of Charlestown was a somewhat different Barney from the youth who on May 20, 1919, electrified Boston by escaping from Charles street jail while awaiting trial, he did not lack his moments of rare daring.

He did not, contrary to stories circulated to this effect, make any attempt to repeat his sensational exploits of his previous escape, when he visited Revere Beach and later greeted arresting officers in the Back Bay with a fusillade of shots. Time and experience had taught him enough self-control to hold his bavado in check most of the time.

Yet, from time to time, the old bravado would crop up. Perchance, most of the time only the feeling that bad luck rather than men were in pursuit, prevented him from exhibiting this trait. And then, too, there was the feeling that he owed loyalty to the ring of auto thieves and gangmen to whom he must look for shelter, money, clothes and aid.

Had his fatal nap not prevented

QUICK RECOVERY OF STOLEN CAR

Patrolman McCloskey Makes Arrest 15 Minutes After Alarm Is Sent Out

Warning that the $3,000 touring car of Tung L. Chang, of No. 50 Peterboro street, had been stolen from the yard of an automobile company in Commonwealth avenue was flashed today to every police station in Boston.

Fifteen minutes later Patrolman Charles E. McCloskey of the City Hall avenue station saw what he was sure must be the Tung car in High street, near Oliver.

McCloskey drew his gun, ran into the street, jumped upon the running board, saw that there were four passengers, and told the youth at the wheel to stop or the patrolman would fill his tires full of bullet holes. The machine was stopped.

At City Hall Station one of the quartet convinced everybody in the authority that he was the innocent passenger he appeared to be. He was dismissed. The others, who were locked up, described themselves as Robert Crowley, 20, of Coleman street, Dorchester; George Tierney, 17, of Hendry street, Dorchester, and Francis Barnett, 19, of Washington street, Roxbury.

According to the police Barnett and Tierney have met them before. Crowley is said to have been operating the car.

Patrolman McCloskey, who made the arrest in what is said to be "record" time for a stolen automobile case in Boston, is one of the youngest men in the Police Department. He is a son of Lieutenant Charles B. McCloskey of Station 15, Charlestown.

JOSEPH NARDONE ASKS HELP IN HUNT FOR WIFE

His 13-months-old daughter, Mary, near death at the City Hospital with pneumonia and diphtheria, and his 3-year-old son also ill, Joseph Nardone of East Boston today appealed to the American to help him bring back his wife, Margaret, missing nearly three months. Following a quarrel, he said, Mrs. Nardone left home with another woman and has failed to communicate with him.

ROBBED BY MAN HE BEFRIENDED

Wollaston Autoist Relieved of Cash and Beaten; Assailant Pleads Guilty

L. T. Robertson, of No. 236 Farrington street, Wollaston, a cotton salesman, was beaten about the head and robbed of $7 on Newport avenue, Quincy, today, by a man whom he had given a lift in his automobile.

William J. O'Neil, aged twenty-two, of Willow avenue, Dorchester, was later arrested, pleaded guilty to assault and battery in the Quincy District Court and was held in $2,000 for the Superior Court.

According to the police, Robertson was driving home from Boston and stopped at Upham's Corner, where he inquired the road to Quincy of O'Neil and another man. Both stated that they would show him and entered the car.

One of the men got out after being driven a mile, but O'Neil remained until Robertson's home was approached. The young man then asked Robertson to drive him to Quincy square, which the other man agreed to do. On Newport avenue, O'Neil suddenly thrust a hand into one of his hip pockets, as though to secure a revolver, and ordered Robertson to drive to the side of the road. Robertson complied, and had brought the machine to a stop when the police claim O'Neil struck him in the forehead, rifled his pockets and fled. He was arrested at the Atlantic station by Patrolman Delorey.

2 ARRESTS EXPECTED SOON

One Elwell Suspect Trailed by 'Dry' Law Officers; Police Hunt the Other

New York, July 8.—Following his announcement that statements of William H. Pendleton, intimate and former racing associate of Joseph B. Elwell, murdered turfman, regarding his whereabouts on the night Elwell was slain had not been frank, District Attorney Edward E. Swann announced today that he would question:

Mrs. Pendleton, whom Pendleton said he drove to the railroad station in his own car from their Cedarhurst home on the morning of June 11.—the morning Elwell was found dying. Detectives say they have found a

DINTZNER ARRAIGNED AS ACCOMPLICE IN ESCAPE

Joseph Dintzner, confessed accomplice of Barney, Manster and Ward in their flight from Charlestown State Prison, May 26, was arraigned in Superior Criminal Court today on the charge of attempting to escape from jail.

The arraignment of Dintzner was a continuation of the policy of the district attorney's office to punish all connected with the jail delivery. Dintzner was left behind in the flight of his associates over the death house roof and has informed prison authorities that Barney deliberately cut the rope as Dintzner was climbing up the ventilator shaft to liberty. Barney has denied the charge.

7,000 STRIKERS GO BACK IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, July 8.—Settlement of the strike of 7,000 sealers, checkers and longshoremen, in progress here since May 26, was effected today, the men returning to work at their former wages of 80 cents an hour, with time and a half for overtime and double time for Sundays.

POUGHKEEPSIE WILL WELCOME ROOSEVELT

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 8.—The whole county will participate in a welcome home to Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee for Vice-President, when he returns next week. Party lines, it is asserted, will be disregarded in the celebration.

Cost of Being Born Is Going Higher

Atlantic City, July 8.—The high cost of being born is going higher. Also the cost of marrying and dying, according to the National Association of Steel and Copper Plate Engravers, in convention here.

The engravers make all the birth, wedding and death announcements, and they are going to increase rates shortly.

When they get through, being born is going to be in the luxury class.

POLES CALL ALL MEN OF AGE TO SUPPORT COLORS

London, July 8.—The Russian Bolshevik army, which captured the fortress of Rovno from the Poles, has cut the strategic Kieff-Kovel Railway, said a Central News dispatch from Copenhagen today. The Russian offensive continues in full swing. The Polish Council of Defence has issued a proclamation calling upon all men of military age to rally to the flag. Students and peasants are reported to be responding in great numbers. The Poles expect aid from the western powers soon.

SEARCH MOTORISTS FOR ARMS AT DUBLIN

London, July 8.—Barricades were erected across Malahide road at Dublin during the night. Soldiers were posted along the road and searched all motorists for arms.

HOPKINS IS BLAMED FOR 'RUM RUNNERS'

Chicago, July 8.—Declaring that liquor smuggling from Canada is extensive among the students at Dartmouth College, Attorney Albert H. Meads of Lagrange, Ill., the father of Robert T. Meads, who shot and killed Henry E. Maroney, a fellow student, on June 20, today demanded the resignation of President Ernest M. Hopkins of the institution.

"Booze smuggling among Dartmouth students is a common occurrence," said Mr. Meads on his return to Chicago from Hanover, N. H., where he went to visit his son in jail.

"The students go into Canada with motor trucks, purchase liquor at low prices and, returning with it to Hanover, sell it for from $16 to $20 a quart.

"Nearly everybody in Hanover has been aware of this traffic, and if President Hopkins knew of it he failed in his duty to protect the

CALIFORNIA AND OHIO CAN 'SAVE THE DAY,' SAYS COX

San Francisco, July 8.—Sidney M. Van Wick, chairman of the California Democratic executive committee, today received a telegram from Governor Cox, expressing thanks for a message of congratulation. The telegram read as follows: "Your kind telegram received. California and Ohio saved the day in 1916, and we can do it again in 1920. (Signed) James M. Cox."

A STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

By JOHN R. McVEY

President of the Old South Trust Company

The Old South Trust Company will resume business next Saturday morning. It has stood the acid test. It will reopen a bigger and better bank. It will have a larger capital and surplus than it previously had, and its managing board will be composed of clear-headed, solid and substantial business men and bankers, headed by former Governor Samuel W. McCall.

The bank is solvent. It has always been solvent. State and national bank examiners have certified to this.

The bank is strong. It has a paid-in capital of $500,000.00, and has resources of over three million dollars.

It is liquid. During the past few months the assets of the bank were made as liquid as possible, and today no bank in Boston is more liquid. A liquid bank is the strongest kind of a bank.

It is a safe bank. It has gone through a fine tooth comb investigation by two Bank Commissioners and one National Bank Examiner, and the permit to reopen granted by the Bank Commissioner speaks more eloquently of its strength than any words of mine.

I am proud of the vindication of the Old South Trust Company and am grateful to the loyal stockholders and depositors whose patience and confidence gave me the courage in trying days to fight for the reopening of the bank. I am sure the same loyalty which led them to give ungrudging support to the bank in the past will lead them to continue their support and loyalty in the prosperous times ahead.

In the days just passed there was need of a big-hearted, sagacious counsellor, and him I found in Simon Swig, vice-president of the Tremont Trust Company.

My efforts to reopen the bank without the co-operation of the Bank Commissioner, the depositors, the stockholders and others would have been futile, and to them and to all others who have in any way assisted, I express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation.

garage in New York City in which Pendleton's car stood on the night of June 10-11.

Mrs. Oliver W. Bird, whose husband a garage man named John Doyle has said he drove to a house in Eighty-sixth street in Pendleton's car at 2 a. m. on the morning of June 11.

George B. Post, Jr., who hailed Doyle, while he was returning with the car to the garage on the same morning, and got the garage man to drive him to Sixty-second street and Fifth avenue. Doyle, according to the authorities, is sure that is was Pendleton's car he was driving. He has informed the authorities that Post stopped him by shouting: "Hey, that's Pendleton's car."

One man is under the surveillance of members of the prohibition enforcement agent's staff here, and another is being sought today in connection with the illicit liquor transactions, and perhaps the murder of Elwell. It is said both men will be arrested as soon as the second, who is "missing," has been located.

Prohibition Enforcement Agent Shevlin previously issued orders to his operatives to arrest the men. He changed this when he learned one could not be found, since he intends to have both arrested at the same time.

Mrs. Josephine Lewis Peet Wilmerding, who was questioned by Assistant District-Attorney John T. Dooling, denied categorically all charges and innuendos made concerning her relations with Elwell in the affidavit of Anna Kane, and denied emphatically ever having quarreled with "Miss Wilson."

DENIES KNOWLEDGE OF KIMONOS

According to the Assistant District-Attorney, Mrs. Wilmerding said that she had known Elwell since February, [illegible], when she met him at Palm Beach.

"I was divorced in 1917. I had not known Mr. Elwell then, nor had I ever seen or heard of him before this," Mrs. Wilmerding is quoted as having told the authorities.

She said she last saw Elwell in Januory, 1919, when she was in a private sanitarium, where she had undergone an operation for appendicitis. Elwell called on her, she said.

"Mrs. Wilmerding denied that she ever saw any kimonos in the Elwell home," Mr. Dooling continued. "She also said she had never had a quarrel of any kind with 'Miss Wilson.'

"I cannot understand Anna Kane's motive in saying what she is quoted as having said." Mrs. Wilmerding told her questioners.

Former Elwell Servant Lays Murder to Man

By DENIS O'CONNELL,

Universal Service Staff Correspondent.

(Copyright, 1920, by Universal Service.)

Newry, County Down, Ireland, July 8.—"The New York police should look for some jealous husband as the slayer of Joseph Bowne Elwell."

This is the considered opinion of Mrs. Annie Kane, former housekeeper of the murdered turfman and whist authority, after reflecting on Elwell's lifelong, successful lovemaking.

Inasmuch as Mrs. Kane entered Elwell's employ in 1909, I pressed her to try to recall the list of women that came under the spell of his exceptional powers of fascination.

"What you ask is next to impossible," was her reply. "Remember that most of the time I didn't sleep in the Elwell home, but after my day's work returned to my own with my husband.

"One woman after another came to the Elwell home. Most of the names I never knew and others I have forgotten. Now, my memory is sound only as regards the regular visitors to Mr. Elwell's home, such as 'Miss Wilson' and three other women whom I have named in my affidavit.

(Note—A long affidavit by Mrs. Kane, over the signature of herself, a notary attached to the Supreme Court of Ireland, and a witness has been received by cable at New York headquarters of Universal Service and a copy of it is now in the hands of the District Attorney's office which is working on the many new angles the document opens up toward a possible solution of the murder mystery. Pending investigation in these new directions the names mentioned by Miss Kane are withheld by Universal Service in a co-operative spirit. "Miss Wilson" has already been identified by the authorities as Viola Kraus, beautiful New York and Palm Beach society woman and divorced wife of V. Von Schlegell.)

GIRL OF 16 AMONG THEM.

"Miss M—— who lived with her parents on Fifth avenue, I remember because she was very pretty and extremely youthful. My opinion is that this girl was not more than sixteen, but my husband, who also saw her, put her age at eighteen.

"She used to come early in the afternoon and stay a long time and ring up her parents and tell them she was staying out in the country with some girl friends.

"I have just read in the New York papers that she married Mr. ——, a wealthy New York merchant, a few weeks ago."

"Who is the woman signing her name as 'Clara,' who wrote to Elwell?" I asked Mrs. Kane.

"She was the one who came to the apartment with Miss —— from Baltimore," replied the former housekeeper. "Both women were known on the race track. One night Mr. Elwell brought them home from the track at Havre de Grace and they stayed two days; then they returned to Baltimore.

"Mr. Elwell discovered various articles, mostly wearing apparel, were missing, and he had to go to Baltimore and spend $750 to get the articles out of pawn.

"Another frequenter of the Elwell home I remember distinctly lived in Brooklyn. I don't recall her name, but Elwell paid her a pension of $50 at the time. I used to fill in the checks Mr. Elwell signed.

"There were several others on the payroll in this manner; it should be possible to trace them by the check stubs.

"Personally, however, I see no reason why it is necessary to identify any of these beneficiaries, since it was only in their interest that Mr. Elwell should continue to live and pay them."

"Was there any man or woman whom Mr. Elwell particularly feared?" I asked.

"No woman, to my knowledge," replied Mrs. Kane. "I know, however, that he was much afraid of the husband of Madame X."

(Note—Mrs. Kane here mentioned the name of a woman prominently mentioned in connection with the cause.)

"What do you contribute his remarkable conquests to?" Mrs. Kane was asked.

"To his extraordinary manner," she answered. "He was not good looking, but he had an irresistible, winning manner. He was the kind of man that abuses the hospitality of his friends to win the loves of their wives.

"A few years ago he put his spell over the wife of a New York millionaire whose house he was visiting. That couple is now divorced."

U. S. ENGLISH HARMONY AIM OF JOHN MOFFAT

New York, July 8.—John Moffat, whose family has virtually a monopoly of the cotton thread trade of the world—he is a cousin of Lord Glenarthur and a cousin of Lord Glentana—sails for England tomorrow on the Olympia, determined to devote himself to bringing about more friendly relations between England and the United States. During the last few months he has laid the foundation, co-operating with friends in Great Britain in forming a National Allied Committee. Moffat had charge in this country for the production department of the Information Bureau of the British Foreign Office. He expects to run again for the House of Commons at the next election.

ROCKLAND CHILD KILLED BY AUTO; DRIVER HELD

Rockland, July 8.—Rose Maloney, the five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Maloney of Summit street, was struck and killed by an automobile operated by Loring Underwood of Belmont, while playing on a cross walk on Union street. Underwood was arraigned in the Abington Court today charged with operating an automobile so as to endanger the lives of pedestrians.

Within twenty-four hours of the killing of Henry E. Maroney of Somerville in his rooms at the Theta Delta Chi fraternity house at Hanover in the early hours of June 16, President Ernest M. Hopkins of Dartmouth declared in effect that young Robert T. Meads—accused of the murder and now a prisoner in the Woodsville Jail—was a member of the only group of college men engaged in bootlegging.

Said the Dartmouth president:

WORK WAS PROFITABLE.

"We have put our finger on the one definite spot. All has been centered in North Massachusetts Hall. Mead's room has been under suspicion as the source. Any implication that there has been any extensive bootlegging here is absolutely false."

On the following day Sheriff Cluade Murray of Grafton County declared that Meads and two associates had been "rum running" for about six weeks, sometimes bringing in seventy-two gallons at a time. They were making big money, the sheriff said, buying Canadian Club whiskey in Canada at $2.75 and selling it for as much as $10 a quart. On the Friday before the tragedy Murray said, Meads and his cronies received seventy-two gallons.

The shooting of Maroney, a youthful veteran of the A. E. F., appeared to have followed a midnight visit of Maroney and a friend to the apartment of Meads. They were going to pay Meads, it was said, $8 for a pint of liquor. Meads left the room. Maroney is said to have picked up a partly filled quart bottle, handed it to his chum and advised the latter to "take it on the run."

SHOOTING OF MARONEY.

Meads, returning to the room with the pint, found them gone and fired three shots at them from his window. Then, it is charged, he went to Maroney's room in the frat house and as the latter stepped out of his bathroom shot him dead.

Meads was arrested some hours later at Canaan, N. H., on the way to Boston. His home is in La Grange, Ill. The first thing he did after being arrested was to wire his father, a Chicago attorney.

The elder Meads left at once for New Hampshire and there made arrangements for his son's defense.

Ex-Mayor James M. Curley today was elected president of the Consolidated Shipyards Corporation. The concern is engaged in the repair of vessels, having yards at New Bedford and New York city.

Quincy Cash Trolley Fares Up 100 P. C.

Increases of 33 1-3 per cent. in the price of strip tickets and practically 100 per cent. in the single cash fare becomes effective Saturday on all lines of the Quincy division of the Eastern Massachusetts Railway, the Home Rule Committee of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce announced today.

Strip tickets, formerly selling at sixteen for a dollar, have been cut to twelve for a dollar. Single fares, now 10 cents with transfers, allowing riders to traverse the entire city on the one payment of fare, will have to pay double that amount now, the transfer privilege being abolished under the new adjustment.

The single fare, however, will remain at 10 cents, so that the "short haul" rider is the only patron of the road not affected. Today it is possible to go from Atlantic to Fore River or Houghs Neck on the 10-cent fare with the transfer. After Saturday it will mean the payment of two 10-cent fares to travel over those routes.

ARMY FOLKS TO HAVE OUTING ON SATURDAY

The army picnic for the Northeastern Department is booked for Saturday afternoon, when a boat will leave army supply base at 1 o'clock for a general good outing with games and entertainments and frolics at Fort Andrews, where the boat will arrive at 2 p. m. After landing, the athletic events will take place, followed by dancing, bathing, basket lunch and story telling.

At 7 p. m. a sail will be taken around Boston harbor, and the landing at the army base will be made about 9 p. m. Colonel A. W. Foreman, at army headquarters, has charge.

HARDING GLAD JOHNSON SUPPORTS PLATFORM

Marion, O., July 8.—Announcement of his support of the Republican ticket, made by Senator Hiram Johnson of California, was received with enthusiasm at Harding headquarters.

"I am glad to know that Senator Johnson gives the ticket his support," the Senator commented. "I am glad also to know his support is for the platform rather than for the nominee."

MISSING LYNN GIRL FOUND

Maude Ellis, Who Disappeared Nine Days Ago, Working in Boston as Waitress

Maude Ellis, fifteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Del Ellis, of No. 57 Tucker street, Lynn, who had been missing for nine days, was found today working as a waitress in Boston and lodging in a house on Carver street in the South End.

The girl claimed a man and woman had befriended her and that she feared to go home because she thought her parents might punish her.

She said she went to West Lynn for a position, failed to find the storekeeper who had promised to give her work, met a girl friend and came to Boston. The police say she left Lynn with a man and that they traced her to Revere. The girl's father denied this version today. He said Maude had been under treatment for a nervous breakdown. It was the second time that she ran away from home.

Mr. Ellis, who is employed at the General Electric Company plant, said that friends who saw the report of his daughter's disappearance in the Boston American, gave him the clew that enabled him to find her with the aid of Inspector John Sullivan of the Lynn police force.

CASHIER IN CAFE ADMITS THIEVING

Providence, R. I., July 8.—Miss Mary Carney, twenty-one, claiming to live at No. 1179 Dorchester avenue, Boston, pleaded guilty to the larceny of $20 from the Berkshire Hotel restaurant, where she was employed as cashier, when arraigned in the Sixth District Court.

Pleads for Bay State Line

The State Department of Public Utilities today had before it a request from Joseph P. Lyons, assistant corporation counsel, urging the disapproval of the City Council's order for the revocation of the Bay State Street Railway's grants in Hyde Park. Lyons said he had assurances that the railway company was preparing to spend $75,000 for a double track in Hyde Park avenue.

Vose Small Grand

An instrument of rare beauty with a quality and volume of tone that has placed it high in the esteem of musical artists and others who know and appreciate tone, art and material quality.

Volume is an extremely important consideration in the selection of a small grand. The scientific building of this piano by the Vose company has given it a volume that is astonishing in so small an instrument.

Nothing has been left undone by the makers to produce in this piano a standard of perfection that will uphold the national reputation of the House of Vose.

This model is for the music or living room of limited floor space. It gives the artistic touch to the home.......... TERMS

AUTO OWNERS PAY THIEVES TO RECOVER THEIR STOLEN CARS

ADJUSTERS GIVE AID TO BAND

Machines Sold to Prospective Customers a Week Before They Have Been Stolen

Latest disclosures today in the case of Herman L. Barney, so-called "prisoner de luxe" at Charlestown State Prison, showed that among the men "higher up" identified with the auto theft system are:

Unscrupulous insurance adjusters who operate with gangs of auto thieves.

Alleged agents of certain reputable makes of cars who secretly work with auto thieves and distributors of stolen cars, on the side.

Certain second hand dealers.

Business men who deal extensively in stolen cars and who hide behind legitimate lines of business in which they are engaged.

Dishonest automobile owners who pay thieves to steal their cars so that they may collect the insurance money.

Representatives of insurance companies who pay thieves bonuses to recover stolen cars, a practice which District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier of Suffolk County, in the recent case of Jacob Levy, branded as "the compounding of a felony," and threatened to prosecute the company in question if it committed the offence again.

BUSINESS MEN INVOLVED.

The foregoing are some the most conspicuous ramifications of an outlaw traffic that has grown to alarming proportions in New England and all over the country. Scores of erstwhile reputable business men are clandestinely engaged in the system and reaping enormous profits from their dealings with operatives in the underworld.

Evidence shows that thieves get but $50 or $75 for cars from the fellows higher up who sell them all the way from $500 to $1,000. These figures were testified to by veteran automobile thieves in cases recently prosecuted by District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts and his First Assistant, George Stanley Harvey, in Middlesex County.

The tentacles of the traffic reach into the most unexpected quarters.

CARS SHIPPED FROM STATE.

Today's revelations showed that small types of stolen cars have been regularly shipped from Boston over the road in large covered auto trucks, to points in New York State and New Jersey, to avoid the danger of forwarding in freight cars when shipments are made in lots.

It was also learned that in tight periods of the underworld auto market, cars have actually been sold to prospective customers several days, and even a week, before they have been stolen. Records on file in the Middlesex County Superior Court show this.

Friends of District Attorney Tufts today criticized Commissioner of Corrections Sanford Bates for his "unwarranted attitude" and called attention to the fact that owing to the activities of the public prosecutor for Middlesex County, more than $60,000 worth of stolen automobiles had been recovered. They also pointed out that no other county in the country had done more to stamp out the evil than had the county of Middlesex.

In the June issue of The Automobilist, a periodical devoted to the industry, appears an article giving District Attorney Tufts credit for practically wiping out the evil in Middlesex County.

PROUD OF RECORD.

Study of the court records in East Cambridge today showed that there had been only five complaints of stolen automobiles called to the attention of the District Attorney's office since the cleanup last Fall. Mr. Tufts' supporters said they thought this a splendid record for a county that comprises fifty-four cities and a total population of approximately 1,000,000.

They produced records to show that in two months last Fall there had been five special sessions of the Middlesex County grand jury to handle automobile cases when the campaign against auto thieves was at its height. These court statistics showed that 300 or more indictments had been returned. These involved 152 defendants. Of this number 125 were arrested and 27 were not apprehended. Fifty-two of the total auto theft defendants pleaded guilty; 28 were jailed; four were fined; 10 were placed on probation after having aided the State; 26 cases were filed owing to lack of evidence; three were nol prossed, and only one defendant pleaded nolo contendere. There are 33 of the auto cases pending.

No Democratic Party Today, Says Hearst

The following interview with William Randolph Hearst was published yesterday in the Brooklyn, N. Y., Standard Union. It is in the form of a series of questions submitted by Joseph J. Early, political editor of the Standard Union, and the replies which were made to them by Mr. Hearst.

THE QUESTIONS.

No. 1—Does the adoption of the Democratic platform, with its unqualified endorsement of the League of Nations covenant, as presented by President Wilson, definitely determine your attitude towards the presidential ticket of that party during the coming campaign?

No. 2—Should the unofficial Democratic State convention of New York endorse the Democratic national platform, would that fact preclude your support of the Democratic State ticket this Fall?

No. 3—Do you favor an amendment to the Constitution of the United States requiring all future amendments to the constitution to be adopted at the polls by a majority vote of all the people?

No. 4—Does your recent editorial endorsement, in the San Francisco Examiner, of the attitude of Senator Harding towards the League of Nations, mean that you will support him for President?

No. 5—Should the Socialists, in your opinion, be invited to join the projected third party, which the "Committee of Forty-Eight" propose to put in the field?

No. 6—Would you support such a party, with the Socialists precluded, should you conclude not to support the presidential candidate of either the Republican or Democratic parties?

No. 7—Do you believe the modification of the Volstead act should be made an issue in the Congressional elections?

ELECTION OF JUDGES.

No. 8—There are nine judges of the higher courts to be elected in the First and Second Judicial Districts, in November. Do you favor the "non-partisanship" in the matter of the judiciary which permits the placing of the same candidates on the Democratic and Republican tickets?

No. 9—Does not that deny the people their "day in court" and practically nullify the direct primaries?

No. 10—Do you believe the monopolistic corporations and other big interests, which subscribe most liberally to political campaigns, have a predominating influence with the leaders who, under the plea of "non-partisanship," put the names of the same judicial candidates on the Republican and Democratic tickets?

No. 11—If public utilities of a naturally monopolistic character, like railroads, lighting companies, etc., were to pass into the public control, should you favor the open or closed shop in connection with the operation thereof?

No. 12—Would you venture to predict, at this time, which presidential ticket will be successful at the polls in November?

THE REPLIES.

Mr. Hearst's replies are as follows:

1—It is too early for me to say exactly what course I will pursue in the coming campaign. I earnestly believe that foreign entangling alliances, no matter how labelled, are desperately dangerous to our country, are against all the advice and injunctions of the founders of the republic and are diametrically opposed to the precedents and policies on which our country has grown to greatness.

Believing this as devoutly as I do, I cannot support any individual or any party that favors entangling foreign alliances and that would involve our country in the endless broils and unbearable burdens of European diplomacy and despotism.

2—You speak of the Democratic party as if there were such a thing. Six years ago Mr. Bryan said that at the end of Mr. Wilson's term of office there would be no Democratic party. There might be a Wilson party, but there would be no Democratic party.

Mr. Bryan was apparently an inspired political prophet. There is no Democratic party today. There is merely a Wilson party distinctly undemocratic, unrepresentative and un-American, conducted wholly in accord with one man's heedless ambition to rule or ruin and directed from a sanitarium.

PROHIBITION ISSUE.

3—As we are coming to regard our nation somewhat less as an association of independent states and somewhat more as a united people, a plan to make constitutional amendments by a majority vote of all the people might be desirable, but if you have the question of modifying the prohibition amendment in mind I am absolutely confident that you would find a vast majority of the whole people, in fact, more than two-thirds majority of the whole people, in support of the present prohibition amendment. You have only to go over the United States by COUNTIES (and there the decision is made by popular vote) to learn that more than two-thirds of the counties of the various States, more than two-thirds of the Congressional districts, went dry before the Eighteenth Amendment was passed or even submitted.

4—The editorial in the Examiner merely approved certain utterances of Senator Harding. My papers are liberal and open minded. We have at times approved certain utterances of President Wilson and of various public men to whose determining policies we were opposed.

I certainly shall not support Senator Harding on the Republican ticket if the third party gives us an opportunity to support Senator Johnson, Senator Reed, Senator Borah, Mayor Thompson or any other good democrat, meaning by the word democrat (with a small d) a man who represents the citizenship and not autocracy in the Wilson party or plutocracy in the Republican party.

ANTI-LEAGUE TICKET.

I personally believe it would be good politics and good patriotism for the new party to nominate an anti-leaguer from the late Democratic party, like Senator Reed, for President, and an anti-leaguer who has been a Republican for Vice-President, for the reason that the matter of making American interests subservient to foreign interests through this British-born League of Nations is the great issue in the minds and hearts of all true Americans.

The new party should be firmly and uncompromisingly against entangling foreign alliances of any kind.

It must, therefore, while planning to make its own success assured, plan to make doubly certain the defeat of the Wilson party, which advocates this un-American League of Nations and repudiates the teachings of all great Americans from Washington and Jefferson to Lincoln and Roosevelt.

This is my personal opinion, but I am not trying to dictate to the third party. We have had enough would-be dictators in the old parties. If I cast my lot with the third party, I will support it unconditionally and unselfishly and in whatever way I can best serve.

5 and 6—The new party, as I understand it, will not be in the least a Socialist party. It will not make its appeal to Socialists, Democrats or to Republicans as such. It will be a genuine American constitutional party and will appeal to genuine Americans who believe in constitutional government free from autocratic dictation and plutocratic domination. If the third party is such a party, I will support it.

GIVE IT FAIR TRIAL.

7—Of course there is no objection to any such question being submitted to the people at Congressional elections, but my personal opinion is that the people do not want to modify the Volstead act. They have prohibition in operation and they are determined to give it a fair trial.

Every public-spirited citizen, man or woman, is in favor of temperance, in favor of abolishing the evil of alcohol. The only question regarding prohibition is the question whether or not prohibition is the most effective way of dealing with this universally recognized evil.

The only way to decide that question is to give prohibition a fair trial.

If prohibition should fail to prohibit and should result only in illicit trade in the vilest kind of alcoholic drinks instead of open and restricted consumption of the mildest forms, then would be the time to talk about alteration of the prohibition laws.

But it has not failed as yet, and the people are trying it fairly and hopefully.

8, 9 and 10—I do not consider the nomination of judges or any other public servants on both of the old party tickets "non-partisanship." I consider it bi-partisanship, or the most offensive form of partisanship. It seeks to substitute the preference of both parties, and of the political and financial interests which control both parties, for an expression of free voice on the part of the citizenship.

USURPING STATE POWERS.

A corrupt or incompetent corporation judge, supported by the machines of both parties, leaves the citizenship no representation in the most important of all our departments of government, the judiciary. Especially is this a matter when the judiciary is becoming the Praetorian Guard of plutocracy and is usurping more and more the powers and functions of the legislature and executive branches of government, State and National.

I am in favor of denying political parties the right to place the same candidate on both tickets, whether these be judicial candidates or any other candidate, unless the parties fuse throughout. I am in favor in other words of denying the machines and the influences behind the machines the right to pick candidates sure of election, and I am opposed to denying the citizens their right to a free choice.

Furthermore, I am in favor of the recall for judges and for all other public officials who may deserve to be recalled.

No honest public servant has anything to fear from the recall, and as for dishonest public servants, I could never see anything more sacred about a bad judge than about a bad Governor or Mayor or Alderman.

If anything, a bad judge—on account of the sanctity of his office—is a little more dangerous, a little more detestable and a little more deserving of recall than any other bad official.

UNIONS AND COMBINATIONS.

11—I am in favor of union and I am in favor of unions. I am in favor of combinations of capital and of combinations of farmers and of combinations of working men. I am in favor of the principle of combination and co-operation. I think it operates not only for the protection of the various interests themselves, but of the public.

I do not think that combinations of capital or combinations of labor should be destroyed, but I think they should be made to serve the public welfare.

This is, as we all know, an act of combination and co-operation. It is useless to deny it. It is futile to attempt to prevent it. The best we can do—and it is also the best thing to do—is to make combination and co-operation operate for the public good.

12—My absolutely sincere opinion is that the citizens generally are tired of and disgusted with the old parties. Their platforms and policies are nothing but evasions and insincerities. The Democratic platform endorses woman's suffrage, and yet there has never been a time that the party could not have given women the suffrage if it had really wanted to do so. Woman's suffrage all along has been held up by Democratic States. Now when woman's suffrage is obviously sure of success and no longer needs party endorsement of any kind the Democratic party declares for it.

LIARS AND COWARDS.

In regard to the liquor plank, to use homely Anglo-Saxon, the Republicans are liars and the Democrats cowards. The Republicans say they lost their plank, which is plainly false. The Democrats do not claim to have mislaid their plank. They did not "lose" anything except their sincerity and self-respect. They first voted overwhelmingly against a wet plank and then overwhelmingly against a dry plank. They either lacked the intelligence to have an opinion or the courage to express it.

The two old parties are composed of office holders and office hunters. They have no regard for the public, no conception of public duty and obligation, no realization that the purpose and function of a party is not to gratify the occupant of office, but to satisfy and serve the citizenship.

Therefore I actually believe that a new party with an earnest sense of its obligations to the public, with a sincere desire to serve the public, and with an intelligent and thoroughly patriotic appreciation of how our American public can best be served, will secure the indorsement of thinking citizens regardless of party, and will stand the best chance of election.

WILLIAM RANDOLPH HEARST.

HOUSE FIRED IN SPITE OF GUARD

Cottage in Melrose Destroyed in Second Attempt Inside of Few Hours

A few hours after a slight blaze had been extinguished with a loss estimated at $500, fire of incendiary origin destroyed the one and a half-story cottage on the Martin estate, Baxter street, Melrose, today.

Although the police had been warned to be on guard, the cottage, vacated two days ago, was successfully fired, quantities of kerosene being used and doors and windows left open to create drafts.

The State police were notified and began an investigation of the burning of the structure, which was said to have been valued at $4,000.

Shortly after 10 o'clock last night, the Melrose Fire Department were called to the cottage, located in a somewhat isolated spot near the entrance to Middlesex Fells Reservation. The firemen found a brisk blaze burning in one of the closets, which they extinguished.

As a result of conditions which they found, they suggested that a watch be kept for suspicious characters. Despite this watch, however, the cottage was later found ablaze and flames were shooting from all the windows when the firemen again arrived.

2 HURT IN AUTO CRASH ON HARVARD BRIDGE

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Workman of No. 298 Salem street, Medford, received injuries that necessitated their removal to the City Hospital when a roadster Workman was driving struck a telegraph pole on the Harvard bridge and was demolished early today.

Workman was driving towards Cambridge when he became dazzled by the lights of another car coming in the opposite direction. He lost control of the car when the front wheels hit an object in the road and the car ran up on to the sidewalk, hitting the pole.

The couple were taken to the Charlesgate Hospital and treated and later removed to the City Hospital.

BACARDI RUM MAKER HELD UNDER VOLSTEAD ACT

New York, July 8.—Davis S. DeJoungh, secretary and treasurer of the Bacardi Corporation, makers of Bacardi rum, is under indictment for transporting two truck loads of liquor in violation of the Volstead law. When the corporation was liquidated with the coming of prohibition, it is said, stockholders received their investment in rum instead of cash. The trial of DeJoungh is set for October 6.

DE VALERA GIVEN CHAIR IN MAYNOOTH COLLEGE

New York, July 8.—Eamon De Valera, President of the "Irish Republic," has been appointed to the chair of mathematics in Maynooth College, Ireland, by the Most Reverend Daniel Mannix, former president of the institution who is now in this city en route to Australia where he is to assume the duties of Archbishop of Melbourne.

Raleigh, N. C., July 8.—Ratification of the suffrage amendment will be considered at a special session of the Legislature which has been called August 10 by Governor Bickett.

$30,000 ESTATE TO DAUGHTERS

Will of Mrs. Mary G. Mason of Brookline Allowed by Court

The personal estate of Mrs. Mary G. Mason of Brookline, consisting of $30,000, under the terms of her will, allowed by the Norfolk Probate Court, will be divided among her three daughters, Mrs. Mabel Van Rensselaer of Brookline, Julia A. Mason of Belmont and Honora Mason of Brookline. The court appointed William Ropes Trask of Boston as executor and he furnished a bond of $50,000.

With the exception of a cash gift of $1,000 to her father, Captain Charles F. French of Arlington, Mrs. Emma F. Hodges, late of Brookline, in disposing of an estate of $25,000, creates a trust fund for her sister, Mrs. Mary M. Hazeltine of Brookline. The latter was appointed executrix and furnished a bond of $60,000.

Real estate worth $21,500 and personal estate of $10,000 are left in the will of Mrs. Lucy B. S. Trowbridge of Brookline to her two children, Walter B. and Miss Miriam Trowbridge. The court appointed them executors, each furnishing a bond of $20,000.

Mrs. Mary E. Ford of Dedham, according to a bond filed by her husband, John J. Ford of Dedham, left real estate valued at $3,000. As administrator, Mr. Ford filed a bond of $6,000.

Under the will of Mrs. Sarah L. Little of Dedham, a $3,000 trust fund is created for the benefit of Mrs. Sarah L. Adams.

The court has appointed Henry P. Chandler of Brookline guardian of Henry P. Chandler, Jr., who was left an estate of $3,000. The guardian furnished a bond of $3,500.

Irving E. Stoddard of Braintree, has been appointed administrator of the estate of Mary E. Stoddard of Braintree, who died intestate with real estate valued at $4,500. The administrator filed a bond of $9,000.

Miss Alice J. Crowell of Brookline was appointed administrator of the estate of the late Sunsan J. Purington of Brookline, who died intestate with a personal estate of $3,850. A bond of $4,000 was filed by the administrator.

CHARLES E. McMENIMEN SERVICES IN CAMBRIDGE

Funeral services for Charles E. McMenimen, who died Wednesday at No. 21 Amory street, Cambridge, will be held tomorrow, with a requiem mass at 10 a. m. at St. Mary's Church, Norfolk street, Cambridge. Mr. McMenimen was sixty-five years old. Death was caused by complications resulting from a fall three years ago. He is survived by a wife, a daughter, Esther, and a son, Arthur W., now with the Boston office of the Internal Revenue Department. Lieutenant William McMenimen and Walter L. McMenimen are brothers.

TO RAISE MONEY FOR DISABLED SOLDIERS

Arrangements have been completed for a whist party to be held in Pere Marquette Hall, N street, South Boston, Saturday evening, the proceeds of which will be used to buy comforts for the wounded and sick soldiers confined in the Parker Hill and Roxbury hospitals. The committee in charge of the details comprises Mrs. John Butters, Mrs. N. A. Fleming, Mrs. Margaret Fitzgerald and Lieutenant Nicholas A. Fleming.

BROOKLINE BOY GOES TO SYRACUSE SCOUTS

Syracuse, N. Y., July 8.—Karl A. Swenning of No. 5 Park street, Brookline, has been appointed director of Camp Loyalty of the Boy Scouts of Syracuse Council. He was appointed because of the demand of the Scouts of New York for a course in outdoor life. Swenning graduated this year from the New York State College of Forestry.

Says Woman Slandered Her

A suit for $5,000 was filed in Middlesex County Superior Court by Margaret A. Zoeller of No. 23 College avenue, against Virginia C. Lane of Medford, charging the defendant with slander.

Somerville's "Betsy Ross" 99 Today

Mrs. Mary J. Whitney, the "Betsy Ross" of Somerville," today observed her ninety-ninth birthday anniversary at the Somerville Home for the Aged.

Owing to lameness she has been confined to her room several weeks. With the exception of this physical infirmity and failing eyesight, she enjoys excellent health and her mentality is as alert as it was twenty-five years ago.

During the Civil War she made many American flags and she still relates with pride how she presented one of her most carefully made flags to President Lincoln. Until her eyesight failed she repaired flags used on public buildings in Somerville, and this is how she became known as the "Betsy Ross" of that city.

MAYOR'S BROTHER OFF FOR LONG CRUISE

Harold Peters, former naval lieutenant, and brother of Boston's Mayor, in command of the 25-ton two-masted schooner Lloyd W. Berry, will leave Boston today or tomorrow for a cruise to foreign waters. The Azores will be the first stop, and the schooner will then sail for France and England.

Roger Griswold, a classmate of Peters at Harvard and three other college chums will comprise the crew. The schooner is loaded with flour, which will be sold in the Azores.

NEWTON CHIEF NEARLY RUN DOWN BY SPEEDERS

While driving his car on Chestnut street, Waban, Chief Frederick M. Mitchell of the Newton police was nearly run down by a heavy touring car travelling at a high rate of speed and driven by a woman.

Chief Mitchell, realizing the danger of collision, guided his car sharply to the right over the sidewalk and into a bank just in time to avoid being struck by the onrushing car. The latter failed to stop to ascertain the results of the near collision, and was lost to sight before Chief Mitchell could get the number.

ALIENATION SUIT STIRS EVERETT

Action Brought by Mrs. Mary Sneider Reveals Recent Shooting at Auto

Mrs. Mary Sneider's $50,000 alleged alienation suit against Miss Gertrude Devereaux and $5,000 alleged assault and battery suit against Herbert L. Hopps were the talk of all Everett today, the principals in the controversy being about as well known to citizens of Boston's nearest neighbor on the north as Everett square itself.

Miss Devereaux called the charge against her "utterly without foundation." Hopps talked of a counter-suit.

Harry Sneider, the husband in the case, formerly was employed in the Fred A. Spencer drug store in Everett square. Miss Devereaux is and for a number of years has been employed there. Mrs. Sneider lives in Willard street. Hopps and his young bride make their home in the Everett, Broadway.

The filing of the suits in the East Cambridge Court suggested a partial explanation of the midnight shooting which aroused and intrigued Everett a few weeks ago when policemen, sensing a possible kidnaping or abduction, opened their revolvers upon a speeding automobile, in the tonneau of which a man and a woman appeared to be engaged in a struggle.

Herbert Hopps today told reporters that he was the driver of that midnight car and that Mr. and Mrs. Sneider were his passengers. Sneider, he says, had boldly seized Mrs. Sneider and thrown her into the Hopps car. His own complaint is that his derby was smashed and his face slapped.

AUTO ACCIDENT MYSTERY CLEARED

Mystery surrounding the automobile accident at Revere Beach which resulted in the death of twenty-three-year-old Edward Ross of No. 17 Worcester square, was cleared when it was learned that the machine which was in collision with that of Ross was driven by Raymond C. Corson of Hillcrest avenue, Nahant.

Captain Tappan of the Revere police learned that on the night of the accident Corson had driven his car immediately to the Lynn police headquarters and had told of the accident.

Police said that there would be no arrest unless there are new developments in the investigation.

1 KILLED, 5 HURT AS AUTO HITS TELEGRAPH POLE

Brunswick, Me., July 8.—One man jured and four others slightly injured and four others slightly injured when an automobile in which they were passengers, operated by Ben Savage, of Bath, crashed into a telegraph pole while traveling at a high rate of speed.

Mayer Day, aged seventeen, died from injuries received in the crash. Mrs. M. Isaacson of Berlin, N. H., sustained three broken ribs and minor injuries. The remaining members of the party were less seriously injured. A warrant for Savage's arrest was issued.

No Sugar
Required in Jiffy-Jell Fruit Desserts

Sugar is scarce and high, yet now is the time for rich, fruity desserts.

The solution is Jiffy-Jell. Serve it alone with its real-fruit flavors, or mix in fresh fruit if you wish.

Jiffy-Jell comes ready-sweetened. It comes acidulated with lemon or grape acid. Simply add boiling water, as per directions, and let cool. Then you have a fruit dessert rich in real-fruit essence.

Jiffy-Jell flavors are not artificial. They are condensed fruit juices in liquid form, in bottles. There's a vial in each package.

They are rich in fruit, for much ripe fruit-juice is condensed to flavor each dessert.

Mix in fresh fruit if you wish, but Jiffy-Jell itself has fruit essence in abundance.

To make salad jell, use lime-fruit flavor, tart and green.

Use mint for mint-jell to be served with meats.

These are delicious summer dainties, and the sugar is already there.

10 Flavors in Glass
A Bottle in each Package
Mint, Lime, Cherry
Raspberry, Loganberry, Strawberry, Pineapple
Orange, Lemon, Coffee

IRISH THREATEN TO KILL LUCAS

British Warned If Any More Reprisals Because of General's Capture

By Universal Service.

Dublin, July 8.—"The Irish republic holds General Lucas as a prisoner of war. We hereby warn the British government that if any further towns are wrecked for purposes of retaliation General Lucas will be executed in accordance with the law of war."

The statement was made to Universal Service by a prominent officer of the Irish republican army. It refers to General Cuthbert H. T. Lucas of the British army, who recently was kidnaped by a party of armed and masked Sinn Feiners.

"The Sinn Fein," added the officer, "considers General Lucas a legitimate prisoner and intends holding him until the war between England and Ireland is over."

'HERO' OFFICER IS HELD AS SLAYER

Lieut. Wanderer Admits Changing Pistols Beside Body of Supposed Bandit

By Universal Service.

Chicago, July 8.—A month ago Chicago acclaimed Lieutenant Carl Wanderer for his valiant stand against a supposed bandit, who had slain his wife. Following several strange developments in the case, Lieutenant Wanderer is now held as the murderer.

Detectives have found that the pistol lying beside the dead woman, in reality, belonged to Wanderer. When confronted with the evidence Lieutenant Wanderer became confused and said:

"I saw the pistol laying beside the man after I shot him and noticed that it was a better one than mine, and so I exchanged them."

Both pistols are .45 automatics. The police say they are positive that both guns belong to Wanderer. However, if Wanderer shot the man, they can assign no reason for the slaying.

The shooting occurred in the dark vestibule of the Wanderer home. It is thought that the dead man, who as yet is unidentified, may have served under the lieutenant overseas and sought revenge on his return.

SHOT BY POLICEMAN, SUES FOR $10,000

Joseph P. Kelley of Antrim street, Cambridge, filed a civil suit for $10,000 in the East Cambridge Superior Court against Patrolman Timothy J. Falvey of the Cambridge police force. The defendant alleges that on March 4, 1920, he was shot by Falvey on Village street, Cambridge.

Shock-Absorbers For False Teeth

Cleveland, June 15.—Non-Skid Shock Absorbers for false teeth are the latest thing. Heretofore the principle of shock absorbers has been limited in application, but now a Cleveland chemical concern advertises a powder which sprinkled upon "store teeth," forms a smooth cushion, holds them firmly in place, and gives a "non-skid" effect while they romp over the toughest roasting ears of corn and chew the stickiest candy.

One who has lost his natural teeth can supply himself with this antiseptic, adhesive comfort-powder—Corega—at a drug store, and proceed to laugh and sneeze, crack nuts and do other hazardous things without risk of shaking his lower berths. 35c at Druggists.—Advertisement.

277 AUTO LICENSES REVOKED IN JUNE

Prohibition has failed to prevent automobile drivers from operating while under the influence of liquor, as is evidenced by figures given out by State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin, showing that out of 277 revocations of licenses in June 69 were for operating while under the influence of liquor. The revocation of 41 licenses followed deaths by accidents.

SOUTH END BOY IS ACCIDENTALLY SHOT

Edward Whalen, fourteen, of No. 434 Tremont street, South End, is at the City Hospital with a bullet wound in his left thigh. Young Whalen, according to the police, was playing with some boys in an alleyway in the rear of No. 25 Dover street. They fondled a revolver amongst themselves when it suddenly exploded, hitting Whalen in the left thigh.

Town Worker a Suicide

Roxbury, Vt., July 8.—John O'Grady, a town employe, committed suicide by slashing his throat with a penknife. It is believed that he suffered a temporary mental derangement which resulted in his act.

The reputation enjoyed by the makers of these high-class shoes among the better class of retailers is such that it does not seem necessary here to go into detail regarding the excellence of their product.

We show in this announcement of sale several styles in Men's Shoes. There are many others in all fashionable leathers and weights.

The average business man understands that these factory sales cannot be interpreted as meaning that shoes will be lower in price. That is not so. It costs as much to make shoes now as it did for many months past, and as far as future costs are concerned there is nothing to indicate that they will be lower than they have been for some months past. Labor and leathers are not coming down. When these cancellation stocks are sold the present high retail prices will prevail. ALL SALES FINAL — NO MAIL ORDERS.

THEYSAYITISTOUGHBUTITAINT

Did you ever hear of so many factory, cleanup, unloading, enlargement, discount and other so-called sales to torture the people as you've been forced to watch and read about in the month of June? Everybuddy seems to be hollering an scat 'bout to death and trying every way possible to grab your hard earned spondulix. They all say "it's tough," but I can't see anything tuff 'bout it. Pooty darned rosy for us. Our friends lugged in here and left two hundred thousand dollars ($199,864.60, to be exact) MORE THAN IN JUNE, 1919, and there haint been a word go out of this store 'bout sales or anything else to catch, induce or inveigle the people to bring it in. We jess tended to our knittin and let 'em come. Praps that's the reason.

CHARGE PLOT TO MASSACRE IRISH

Planned for 12th Under Guise of Religious Riots; Women Pickets Cable Premiers

Washington, July 8.—Picketing of the British embassy and the State Department by women sympathizers with Ireland will be resumed, despite the warning of Washingon police that arrests will follow.

Mrs. Thomas K. Corliss of New York, leader of the little band which recently created a stir by picketing the embassy and later burning a British flag in front of the State Department, announced that these methods would be pursued until the Republic of Ireland is recognized by Great Britain and this government.

PROTEST TO SPA CONFERENCE.

Charging that the British press is preparing the American public for an Irish massacre on Orangeman's Day—July 12—and will seek to give the impression that the trouble originated with religious riots, the women dispatched cablegrams simultaneously to Premiers Lloyd George, Millerand and Giolitti, who are attending the Spa conference. The cablegram follows:

"The American women pickets for the enforcement of America's war aims respectfully call your attention to the fact that the entire world is alive to the purport of the inspired dispatches pouring incessantly from English propaganda bureaus into American newspapers to create an opinion here justifying the military assault on the defenseless Irish people which your imperialist government is preparing for July 12, under the impression that Christian England, whose lamentations for Belgium still ring in America's ears, is suppressing religious war in Ireland.

REPUDIATED BY BUREAU.

"These same American people are asking how England can ask America to carry her war debt while spending millions annually to hold down her imperial possessions at the point of the bayonet.

"Please inform Lord Bryce that the American people fought in 1776 to get out of the British empire, and the Americans feel today that under the principle of self-determination, for which we gave millions in men and millions in treasure, the Irish people and not the English people should be the judges of whether Ireland should remain in the empire or outside of it."

(Lord Bryce, in a recent statement, declared that England was ready to grant Ireland any measure of freedom short of separation from the empire.)

Officials of the National Irish Bureau declared that they were maintaining a strictly hands-off policy toward the Irish women pickets, who have on various occasions seriously perturbed the diplomatic circles of Washington. The bureau does not countenance "militant methods," it was stated.

Irish Women Thank Sisters in U. S. for Campaign

By Universal Service.

Dublin, July 8.—Members of the Irish Women's Association have prepared a message to the women of America, thanking them for their efforts on behalf of Irish independence. The message reads:

"The Irish Women's Association sends its congratulations to the women of America for the splendid campaign they have conducted in behalf of the Irish republic."

SCORES SCHOOL BOOK MEN AS "UNPATRIOTIC"

By Universal Service.

Salt Lake, Utah, July 8.—Foreign propagandists have managed to get their versions of various subjects into the school books of America, according to J. M. Pearson, professor of English at the State Agricultural College at Manhattan, Kan., who charges text book publishers as being "unpatriotic" before the convention of the National Educational Association here.

"The daily press is more patriotic than school book publishers," the professor declared.

"LOST" MAN TURNS UP AFTER ALL NIGHT HUNT

Manchester, N. H., July 8.—Nearly the entire male population of Amoskeag village, a suburb of this city, passed the night and most of the day in scouring the woods for Stephen Tardiff, eighty year. He returned to his home none the worse for a night passed, he says, on the banks of the Merrimack River at the "Eddy," a short distance below the village.

LAWRENCE MOTORISTS HURT IN TRIPLE CRASH

Lawrence, July 8.—William Cote, of No. 187 Broadway, figured in an accident in which his motorcycle was hit by two automobiles. Cote sustained minor abrasions about the limbs and body. The motorcycle, with side car attached, was struck by an unidentified machine on the Falls bridge. The motorcycle tipped and ran into a machine owned by Earl Turner. The two machines in the accident were badly damaged.

CHILDREN CONTEST WILL OF FORMER POLICEMAN

Lawrence, July 8.—A son and daughter of John Shepard Wright, late of this city and a former police officer, are contesting the will made by him, in which he leaves an estate, valued at nearly $20,000, to his wife. Ernest Wright and Mrs. Maude Leboeuf, the son and daughter, allege that undue influence was used. The former officer had drawn three wills, all of which he had destroyed, the testimony showed.

Wife Alleges Non-Support

Mrs. Cynthia E. Ellis of Cambridge has filed a suit for divorce against Frank T. Ellis of New York, alleging nonsupport. They were married in 1897.

BARNEY "PRISONER" OF AUTO GANG

him getting out of Charlestown speedily enough to have joined Charles Manster and the latter's sweetheart in the high-powered motor which was bearing them to freedom, he would have been more or less his own master, or subject at most to the orders of Manster.

As events turned out, however, he must rely on a whole coterie of friends, and take orders from them.

A TOOL OF THE GANG.

Out of State Prison Herman L. Barney found himself, because of circumstances, not a free man after all. His goings and his comings, the choice of hiding places, the mode of travelling, the money to travel with—all were arranged by members of the gang of auto thieves at conferences in which Barney had comparatively little to say.

Fate, bad luck, or whatever each of the gang chose to call it, had unexpectedly thrust the burden of the fugitive Barney upon their shoulders.

They accepted the burden—true to the law of the gang—but they accepted it only on condition that they, and not himself, decide Barney's plans.

When he jumped down the forty-foot wall from a grim bondage of State Prison, he jumped into another bondage, even more grim and relentless, the bondage of the gang. He was no longer dealing with the law as represented by stone walls, steel bars, cells and armed jailers—he was dealing with lawlessness, as represented by men of several ages, in various walks of life, men bound by the gang-tie to aid him, yet each equally desirous of keeping out of trouble himself.

He had indeed jumped from the frying pan into the fire.

But as he limped along the Boston & Maine tracks in the direction of Union Square, Somerville, until he put his freedom in the hands of his gang, he was, temporarily, a free man.

And so there came to the surface the old careless, reckless daring.

WALKS PAST TWO POLICEMEN.

As he approached Davis square, after turning into Somerville avenue, he spied in the distance three policemen talking together. He realized that without doubt they were discussing him and his escape. He might have ducked out of sight and taken another route to the Cambridge house he intended to seek.

But despite his pain he did not. The temptation was too strong.

He was hatless and in his stocking feet. He went into the nearest yard, seized two quart bottles of milk from the back steps, rolled up his trousers and issued forth whistling.

He had heard a milk wagon rumbling by in the distance. The word "rumble" is that used by Barney and his associates to indicate danger. To the majority of the gangmen "a rumble" means a time to flee. But to Barney it has always been a signal to take a desperate chance. So he took it.

He passed within two feet of the three policemen, whistling and waving one of the milk bottles as a greeting. They returned the brief salutation in kind and continued their conversation.

Around the next corner he threw the two bottles into a yard and indulged in a short laugh.

His first brush with the law had been successful.

ENTERS FRIEND'S HOME.

He continued on into Cambridge. Unhesitatingly he sought the home of a friend and was admitted. From that time on he was in the bondage of the gang. But he had enjoyed his brief minute of absolute freedom. Thereafter they were to be comparatively rare.

It was a big surprise to the Cambridge people to have Barney walk in on them. No word of his plans to escape had reached the outside world.

They accepted the burden of sheltering him without question and began at once preparations to get him clothing. This proved a difficult task, first, because of Barney's fastidious taste, which would accept only the best, and second, because of the fact that the clothing must be brought into the house in some manner which the police would not suspect.

One thing on which Barney firmly insisted from the first after he had put himself in the hands of the gang, was that the clothes provided for him must be of the finest cloth and latest cut. He told his associates plainly that whatever else happened he would not accept any "hand me downs" in the way of wearing apparel and furthermore he insisted on being plentifully supplied with clothes.

He specified silk shirts and silk underwear particularly, and made considerable difficulty for his associates by demanding brown cordovan shoes of a particular make. As Barney has a small foot—A No 5—this caused some of the gang much work.

When the expensive underwear, suits and shoes had been assembled, the question arose as to how they could be smuggled into the house in which the fugitive was hiding.

It was Barney himself who solved this problem, and in doing so again indulged in his love for the dramatic.

SMUGGLED CLOTHING.

Most of the time Barney was in the house in which he spent the first day of his unparalleled "vacation" a well known Boston plainclothes man, one of those detailed to bring Barney in dead or alive, stood a short distance from the house, within plain sight of Barney as the latter sat at an upstairs window.

This plainclothes man stood outside the house as two boxes labelled "condensed milk," but in reality containing expensive cordovan shoes and clothes from a high priced tailor, were carried into the house, whither they were brought in a grocery wagon.

Barney remained at this particular house until after nightfall, May 26. Then exchanging a few garments he had worn from prison for one of the finely tailored suits he was now provided with, donning a pair of $20 shoes of the most fashionable cut, and a tweed cap, he ventured forth.

Without being stopped or questioned he traversed several of the principal streets of Cambridge to another house, where the gang had prepared for his reception, and where he spent another day and night.

(To Be Continued Tomorrow.)

DENIES RECEIVING $1,000 IN STOLEN GOODS

Lawrence, July 8.—Charged with receiving stolen goods to the value of $1,000, George W. Pollard, a grocer of Lawrence street, pleaded not guilty in the District Court here. His case was continued to August 9 to allow the police to find two men who are said to have been implicated in the theft of some of the merchandise, which the police allege was stolen from freight cars. The cellar of the grocery conducted by Pollard was searched by inspectors and, in addition to nineteen cartons of cigarettes, valued at $700, 24 pairs of rubber boots valued at $124, 58 pairs of ladies' rubbers valued at $72, and a heavy bolt of blue serge cloth were found.

In My Lady's Chamber

THERE isn't a room in the house—that you can't find beautiful furniture for at Moller's—whether your home be characterized by an air of luxury, one of "elegant simplicity," or just "good taste and limited income."

Six floors of furniture and furnishings—that make it possible for you to furnish your home complete, even to draperies, pictures and china, without leaving our store.

The Moller Service helps you visualize your home—one room at a time—then, advises you honestly—regardless of price consideration—as to the furnishings that will insure harmony, beauty and comfort, when the rooms are assembled as a whole.

Lovely deep-toned mahogany and beautiful period designs in walnut, delightfully informal wicker—now used the year round—and exqusitely dainty French period bedroom suites which make "My Lady's Chamber" a veritable haven of rest and comfort.

Bear in mind that Moller's prices are guaranteed to be lower than those at any store in Boston—selling for either cash or credit—then you'll understand why so many Boston people take the little six minute trip to Moller's—'specially on Thursday and Saturday evenings.

Keep-Cool Shopping In Warmest Weather

WINDOWS admitting breezes from three of its great sides—high ceilings—wide aisles, free of "bargain" tables—spacious elevators—electric fans wherever required—these are some of the reasons warm-weather shopping is always pleasant here.

One of our chief desires is that Hovey shoppers find themselves so comfortable that they come early and stay late. We wish more and more of them to make of this good old store a meeting place and a place of rest.

To that end we have provided a quiet, cool waiting room on the second floor. You are invited to partake of its comforts.

Father Asks $10,000 Damages for Death of Son in Trolley Accident

Claiming that his son, George R. Seeley, Jr., of Framingham, was knocked down and killed by a Boston & Worcester street railway car on Concord street, Framingham, on May 4, George R. Seeley, administrator of the estate of the boy, has filed suit for $10,000 against the company in the Middlesex superior court at East Cambridge.

AUTOIST SUED FOR $10,000.

John G. Perman of Worcester is the defendant in two suits, each for $5,000, as the result of a collision of automobiles at the corner of Inman street and Broadway, Cabridge, on June 2. Joseph O. Ouillette of Cambridge claims that Perman's car collided with his machine. The car was overturned and Ouillette was thrown out. Robert F. Burns of Somerville, who was riding in Ouillette's car, also sues for $5,000 for alleged injuries.

Chakalis Brothers of Boston have been sued for $3,000 by James G. Bennett of Somerville who alleges that on May 22, while driving his car on Massachusetts avenue, Boston, he was injured and his car damaged when a machine owned by the defendant struck it.

The Boston Structural Steel Company of Cambridge has been sued for $1,000 by Donald Carroll of Cambridge, a minor, who sues through his father, Richard Carroll. He alleges that on October 25, 1919, he was injured through negligence on the part of the company.

GIRL SUES ELEVATED.

Albert L. Lewis of Medford has been sued for $5,000 by Edmund J. Mahoney of Somerville, a minor, who sues through his father, Daniel E. Mahoney. Mahoney alleges that he was knocked down and injured by an automobile owned by Lewis.

The Boston Elevated has been sued for $2,000 by Elizabeth Frazier of Cambridge. She alleges that on May 29, as she was leaving a train in the Winter street subway station, she was injured when the train suddenly started.

John R. McKenzie of Cambridge has been sued for $5,000 by Mary B. Brown of Boston, a minor, who sues through her father, Maurice Brown. She alleges that on June 10, while on Massachusetts avenue, Cambridge, she was struck and injured by the defendant's car.

LEXINGTON POLICE START WAR ON AUTO OFFENDERS

The Lexington police are waging their annual campaign against violators of the automobile laws in all its phases. A record is kept of each automobilist caught violating the laws, and if the same motorist is caught a second time court proceedings are instigated against him. The motorist is warned by the police that a second misdemeanor will mean court action. The list of faulty automobilists is kept on file at the Lexington police headquarters.

"STRONGEST" CARGO ON RECORD REACHES N. Y.

New York, July 8.—The strongest cargo on record arrived here aboard the Royal Italian Mail Liner Fernando Palaschiano. When the hatches were opened after the vessel docked there was a general exodus from the pier. The cargo consisted of 10,000 innocent-looking hampers, each containing fifty strings of garlic.

PAINTER GRABS LIVE WIRE; FALLS DEAD

Amesbury, July 8.—Harold Blackstorp, aged twenty-three, of this town, was electrocuted while painting a section of the Merrimack Power Company, where he was employed. He was dead when employes of the plant reached him. Blackstorp, painting on a scaffold, grabbed a high tension wire and immediately fell lifeless to the scaffold.

Island Inmates Have No Complaints

For the first time in the memory of members of the City Council no inmates of Deer Island had a complaint to make when the council committee on prisons visited the institutions on both islands. Instead they praised the administration of both institutions.

"Well, this is a new one on me," said President Moriarity, who expected a few kicks at least. Women and men inmates of the almshouse on Long Island said Superintendent John J. Ryan had made many improvements and was undertaking many others. The same was said about Master George Holden on Deer Island.

Councillors McLaughlin, Brickley and Moriarty, whose exposure of conditions at Long Island later led to the charges against Dr. Charles E. Donlan and his ousting as superintendent, expressed satisfaction with what has been done since the new superintendent took office. A new nursery and better hospital accommodations for the children and improved hospital facilities for the aged women of the island were noted.

GENERAL CASTRO REVOLTS AND IS BEING PURSUED

Vera Cruz, Mexico, July 8.—General Cesaro Castro, stationed near Torreon, has revolted against the Obregon-De la Huerta administration, according to reports received here. General Eugenio Martinez has been ordered to pursue the revolutionist and bring him back dead or alive. General Castro took with him the entire Torreon garrison.

Washington, July 8.—Official cognizance of the revolt of Generals Carlos Osuna and Harrabes Agadir has been taken by the Mexican Government, according to advices received by the State Department from the American Consul at Tampico. Osuna is operating between Tampico and Monterey and Agadir is on the San Luis Patesi line.

MONEY WORRIES DRIVE REALTY MAN TO SUICIDE

New York, July 8.— Financial worries are believed to have caused Aaron Bacharach, aged forty-five, wealthy real estate broker, to take his life in his apartment on Fifth avenue. He was found in the bedroom by his son, Jeffrey, with a bullet wound in his heart. The boy is a student in the City College of New York.

SUFFRAGISTS IN WARLIKE MOOD

Alice Paul Defies Politicians Who Join in Attack on 19th Amendment

Washington, July 8.—Never did the headquarters of the National Woman's party assume a more militant aspect than when the news reached it today that proceedings seeking to hold the suffrage amendment unconstitutional had been started in the District Supreme Court.

The proceedings, which created such a stir at suffrage headquarters, would have the suffrage amendment declared null and void, would enjoin Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of State, from issuing any proclamation declaring ratification complete, and enjoin Attorney-General Palmer from enforcing the amendment. They were instituted by Charles S. Fairchild of New York, president of the American Constitutional League and Secretary of the Treasury in the Cabinet of President Cleveland.

When it was learned that this action had been taken, Miss Alice Paul, chairman of the National Woman's Party, and noted militant, immediately threw down the gauntlet to the foes of the amendment. She said:

"They shall not rob women of their hard-won victory the moment it is within their grasp. We will fight these proceedings with every weapon possible, and we will not soon forget or forgive any politician who at this moment aids and abets the foes of suffrage."

ALLEGED WIFE-SLAYER CLAIMS A "FRAMEUP"

Washington, July 8.—Chester A. Snow, aged Washington millionaire, who is alleged to have plotted the death of his divorced wife that he might regain the custody of their six-year-old son, is the victim of a "frame-up."

This was the flat assertion of his attorney, George P. Hoover. Snow, who was released in $10,000 bail, was given a preliminary hearing today.

Wife Charges Cruelty

Mrs. Gertrude V. Woloski of Framingham has filed a suit for divorce against her husband, Joseph F. Woloski of New Jersey. They were married November 1, 1914. She alleges cruel and abusive treatment.

Prince Glad Whiskey Flask Was Safe

London, July 8.—A correspondent of a London daily who is accompanying the Prince of Whales and was with him in the railroad wreck in Australia a few days ago cables this story:

Passengers rushing up to extricate the Prince cried: "Is your royal highness hurt?"

"Bless your souls, no," came the laughing reply, "and I'm glad my whiskey flask isn't broken, either."

HONOR CREW OF JAP CRUISER

Visitors Given Warm Official Welcome by City and State; Pleased by Greeting

Officers and members of the crew of the first class cruiser Kasuga—first Japanese warship to enter Boston harbor—today began an elaborate program as the guests of the city and State in their mission of good will towards the United States. The ship is at the army supply base in South Boston.

Captain Heigo Teraoka and Captain Yoshitake Uyeda, naval attache of the Japanese embassy at Washington, Commander Baron J. Kaminura, executive officer of the ship, and staff officers, called at the City Hall to visit Mayor Peters. Admirals Dunn and Robison were also visited.

Owing to the absence of Lieutenant Governor Channing Cox, acting Governor in the absence of Governor Coolidge, who has gone to Springfield today, the officers of the cruiser will be received officially at the State House tomorrow at 10 o'clock.

This afternoon naval officers returned visits to the warship. Tomorrow Captains Teraoka and Uyede with officers of the ship, are the guests of Admiral Dunn at dinner at the Algonquin Club. Charles S. Birs will entertain the officers Saturday night at his home.

The officers and crew will be "at home" on ship Saturday afternoon to receive State and city officials and invited guests, while Sunday afternoon from 3 to 6 o'clock, the Kasuga will be open to the public. Monday afternoon Japanese residents of Greater Boston will be guests at the ship.

7 Mrs. Meads Claimed Belgian Medal

Mrs. Frederick S. Mead of Brookline has been presented the Meadal of Queen Elizabeth by Redington Fiske, Belgian consul, in recognition of relief work for Belgian soldiers during the war.

She got the well-earned distinction only after an amusing mixup in which seven of the twenty-seven "Mrs. Meads" in the Boston directory came forward to claim the medal.

Mrs. Mead was awarded the medal by King Albert and Queen Elizabeth for her work as supervisor of the manufacture of surgical dressings at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital during the war, and her services as chairman of the dressings committee of the National Civic Federation.

She was visited at the hospital by the Belgian King and Queen while they were in Boston and they were so favorably impressed with her work that they determined to honor her. They neglected to get her full name, however, and that is why Consul Fiske was presented with the problem of finding the right Mrs. Mead for the Belgian decoration.

Presentation was at the Arlington street headquarters of the National Civic Federation. Members of the federation and friends present included Mrs. F. Lothrop Ames, Dr. John Elliot, Mrs. Elliot, Mrs. Theodore Bremer, Mrs. Richard Saltonstall, Miss Elizabeth Head, Mrs. Henry Chapid, Frederick S. Mead, Miss Mary Barnes and Mrs. Herbert L. Harding.

6 WEEKS NAVAL COURSE FOR YOUTHS 16 TO 20

Youths between 16 and 20 years old are eligible for the six weeks naval course at Hampton Roads, Va., which will begin this month, Commander R. F. Zogbaum, Jr., of the Boston navy recruiting office, No. 66 Hanover street, announced today after receipt of orders from Washington. The only stipulations are that the applicants have consent of their parents for the vaccine inoculations and be the average weight, which is 111 pounds for those 16 years old.

GOULD DIVORCE UPHELD IN PARIS

Supreme Court of France Finds Charges Against Former Actress Were Proved

Paris, July 8.—In a sweeping judgment the Supreme Court upheld the divorce of Frank J. Gould from Edith Kelly Gould, after spirited pleading by Charles C. Loeo and Rene Viviani, Gould's attorneys.

The principal points upon which the attorneys based the arguments were Edith Gould's acknowledgment of the jurisdiction of the French courts by appearing personally at the first hearing of the case; secondly, they alleged her misconduct had been proven.

The argument by Mrs. Gould's attorneys to the effect that the divorce was illegal under the New York law, when both parties commit misconduct, was quashed by the court.

This Makes the Curl Stay in Your Hair

The silmerine method is unusually popular just now, according to the druggists. This is largely due to the warm weather and because women are now spending so much of their time out of doors. This simple method not only produces the loveliest, natural looking curls and waves, but it keeps the hair in curl, no matter how hot or how moist the day, or how hard the wind blows.

All one need do is to wet a clean tooth brush with liquid silmerine, draw this through the hair before doing it up, and the hair will dry in just the sweetest waves and crinkles. This will also keep the hair beautifully soft, silky and lustrous. A few ounces of liquid silmerine will last for months.—Advertisement.

MILLION GIVEN TO BACK WOOD

'Big Business' Furnished Slush Fund in Fight for General

Chicago, July 8.—William Loeb, Eastern campaign manager for General Leonard Wood during the primaries, provided the biggest sensation thus far sprung in the investigation of campaign "slush funds," when he testified before the Senate Investigating Committee here that the Wood campaign had been underwritten for $1,000,000 by big business men of the country.

Senators Kenyon, Reed and Spencer, who are conducting the probe, quizzed Mr. Loeb.

He told them that Colonel Ambrose Monell underwrote $250,000, George A. Whalen $250,000, William Cooper Proctor $250,000, "and I agreed to get the rest," he added.

"I estimated the expense at $1,000,000," Mr. Loeb said.

GIVEN $2,050 BY LOWDEN CAMP.

Another admission which caused considerable stir was that of W. R. Hakried, a Lowden manager in Missouri, who testified he received $2,050 from the Lowden camp.

A list of the contributors to the Wood fund was provided by Mr. Loeb, and included such names as J. B. Duke, tobacco king, who was a "substantial subscriber"; the late George W. Perkins, who gave $10,000 for "somebody else," and H. E. Rogers, oil magnate, who gave $50,000, according to Loeb.

Going back to his estimate of $1,000,000 for campaign expenses, Mr. Loeb said this amount was agreed upon at a conference with George A. Whalen, Rufus Patterson, Zeth Freeman, Mr. Monell and others.

General Wood was present at this conference, Mr. Loeb explained, but had left when the money was underwritten.

HAD $16,453 FROM LOWDEN.

J. L. Babler, Republican national committee man from Missouri, was recalled to testify. He said he received $16,453 from H. L. Morse, Lowden manager in Missouri, and spent $16,101 for expenses.

Major A. A. Sprague, Western manager of the Wood campaign, was another witness. He was asked to explain the sending of $14,000 to Colorado for expenses, and replied he knew nothing of the money, but that "General W. C. Burtt, assistant to Colonel Proctor, should know about it."

MORE COMMISSIONED FOR NATIONAL GUARD

Among the men commissioned as officers in the new National Guard by Governor Calvin Coolidge are Harris C. Lind of Arlington, captain in the 101st Engineers; John P. Holland of Boston, second lieutenant, 101st Infantry; Henry P. Jones of Chelsea, second lieutenant, 101st Infantry; John F. FitzGerald of Roxbury, first lieutenant, 101st Field Signal Battalion; Wallace F. Bryant of Harvard, second lieutenant, 102d Field Artillery; Dennis P. Sullivan of Malden, second lieutenant, 101st Infantry; Theodore L. Storer of Waltham, first lieutenant, 101st Field Artillery; Armand Ruby of Worcester, captain, 104th Infantry; Edgar C. Erickson of Worcester, captain, 104th Infantry; Donald M. Hastings of Everett, captain First Coast Defence Command; Leon C. Waite of Lawrence, first lieutenant, 101st Supply Train; James E. Hughes of Worcester, first lieutenant, 104th Infantry, and Frederick O. Klakring of Springfield, captain, 104th Infantry.

RENEW TRADE WITH RUSSIA

Restrictions, However, on Commodities Liable to Be Used for War Purposes

Washington, July 8.—American citizens or corporations may now trade with Russia, but at their sole risk and with restrictions as to such commodities as may be "susceptible to immediate use for war purpoes."

Announcement to this effect was made by Norman Davis, acting Secretary of State, after a visit to the White House.

The War Trade board, which is now a bureau of the State Department, also announced that the special export licenses heretofore demanded had been so amended as "to authorize the exportation by freight or express without individual licenses to all countries of the world."

This privilege has also restrictions as to munitions of war when they shall be offered for shipment to Russia, the Republic of Austria, Bulgaria or Turkey, China or Mexico.

The announcements by the War Trade Board specify the articles which cannot be shipped without permission to the countries named. In a general way the list includes what is known as contraband of war.

The War Trade Board, however, stated that even though the list is forbidden, an exporter asking for license may submit a statement that he knows they are to be used only for civil and positively not for military purposes.

The announcement of this action was looked for for the past three months. It is asserted officially that the United States is acting alone and without agreement with any action the Allies may take on the question of trade with Russia. The Allies, however, have been informed, as a matter of courtesy, of the action of the United States.

It was stated here that the United States does not know what arrangements, if any, have been made by Great Britain with Soviet Russia, although Lloyd George and Russia's accredited agent, Krassin, have been in close communion on the question for many weeks.

LAWRENCE MILL OWNER OPENS VACATION CAMP

Lawrence, July 8.—William M. Wood, president of the American Woolen Company, will conduct a Summer camp at Boxford for children between the ages of seven and fourteen whose parents are employed in the mills of the company. The camp starts Monday and for two weeks girls only will be taken. The two weeks following will be for boys, and the two weeks following those will be for those employes who cannot afford to take a vacation and are in ill health.

Voters Asked to Kill Volstead Law

Washington, July 8.—A nationwide appeal to American voters to organize for the repeal of the Volstead law is made in a circular letter issued by the association against the prohibition amendment.

According to the circular, this organization "is a national society" founded by men of the highest standing and integrity, none connected with the liquor trade."

Cocoanut Oil Fine For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.—Advertisement.

FINE FOOD LAW VIOLATORS

Aged Fish Dealer Given One Month Suspended Sentence; Physician's Case Continued

A South End physician, a patent medicine concern and several fish and meat dealers were brought before the Municipal Court, charged with violating the food and drug laws.

Nathan Rosenblatt, a Spring street fish dealer, was found guilty and sentenced to one month in the House of Correction for attempting to sell fish unfit for food. The sentence was suspended and the dealer was placed on probation because of his advanced years. He is sixty-four years old.

SUPPLY CO. FINED $150.

The Hotel Standard Restaurant Supply Company, Incorporated, at No. 15½ Blackstone street was fined $150 for offering for sale poultry unfit for food. The company appealed.

Lawrence Goligan of No. 1A Dover street appealed from a one-month's sentence for offering for sale poultry bought from the supply company. Board of Health inspectors testified that Goligan paid 14 cents a pound for the poultry while the market quotation on the date of purchase was 44 cents a pound, wholesale.

The South End Market, No. 292 Harrison avenue, and Philip Stadler, both doing business in Harrison avenue, were fined $20 and appealed on the charge of offering fresh fish not properly protected from flies and dirt.

Morris Winer of No. 160 Commercial street, Boston, and Isaac Hurwitz of Marginal street, Chelsea, were charged with having salmon artificially colored. Their cases were continued until July 21.

CONTINUE "CURE-ALL" CASES.

Dr. Joseph W. Grady of No. 237 Tremont street was charged with making sales as a result of an alleged misleading advertisement in an Italian newspaper of a cancer cure. His case was continued until July 14.

The National Remedy Company Incorporated, doing business in Broad street, was charged with selling a medicine advertised as B. & N., alleged to cure consumption and other ills. Their case was continued until July 21 for a further hearing.

MRS. MEAD GIVEN MEDAL BY QUEEN OF BELGIUM

"For devoted service," the bronze medal of Queen Elizabeth of Belgium has been conferred upon Mrs. Frederick S. Mead, chairman of the surgical dressings committee, as a tribute not only to her, but the war organization which she represented.

INDICT HERMANS ON BOGUS MONEY CHARGE

George R. Hermans of New York, who recently made an unsuccessful attempt to escape from the East Cambridge jail, where he is being held in default of $10,000 bail, has been indicted by the Federal Grand Jury on the charge of passing and having in his possession counterfeit banknotes amounting to $12,000.

The Federal Grand Jury, in its partial report to Judge Anderson, returned indictments against the following defendants: Louis Anasoulas of Peabody, altering and having in his possession counterfeit banknotes; Daniel L. Coyne, substitute letter-carrier at Upham's Corner, embezzlement and larceny of a letter which contained $4; William J. Sullivan, Brockton postoffice clerk, embezzlement of mail matter; Harold P. Beere of Long Island, New York, and Robert E. Bruyen of Winooske, Vt., both indicted on the charge of transporting and storing an automobile which had been stolen, and the American Wine Company of this city, which was indicted on the charge of emptying five barrels of wine without destroying the internal revenue stamps.

'Flying Peanut' Goes Like Streak

Robert Breese, millionaire sportsman of Long Island, N. Y., has theproud dstinction of owning the smallest practical auto in the world. The car is equipped with a powerful airplane motor capable of driving it at the rate of 100 miles an hour. The little racer is only slightly more than seven feet in length, and because it is built very low it can make the sharpest corner at its highest rate of speed. Photo shows Mr. Breese in his "flying peanut."

WALSH BOOMED BY THIRD PARTY

La Follette Also Ready to Run for President on New Ticket

By Universal Service.

Chicago, July 8.—Two developments in the evolution of the new third party followed the arrival here of J. A. H. Hopkins of New Jersey, chairman of the executive committee, who was accompanied by Amos Pinchot, of New York, a Roosevelt campaigner in 1912.

1—A Presidential boom was launched by early delegates here for the third party convention Saturday in favor of Frank P. Walsh, of Kansas City, former chairman of the Industrial Relations Committee and later of the War Labor Board.

2—Authoritative anouncement that Senator Robert M. La Follette, of Wisconsin, will accept the Presidential nomination if given him.

Chairman Hopkins and Mr. Pinchot are in Madison, Wis., to confer with Senator La Follette.

The platform to be presented to the convention will favor public ownership of utilities, restoration and development of idle lands, equal economic and political rights irrespective of sex or color. It will oppose injunctions in labor disputes, but indorses collective bargaining and labor's right to share in the management of industry.

4,000,000 Workers Affected by Strike

By Universal Service.

Washington, July 8.—The Department of Labor, in a review just issued says that in 1919 strikes and lockouts in the United States numbered 3,374 and affected more than 4,000,000 workers.

Approximately one-half of these strikes occurred in the States of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio and Illinois.

Filene's—What she said of values

AS A WOMAN remarked to us one day this week—"It is easy enough to give bargains in things that are not in demand; but when you give better values in the things everybody is looking for—that's a REAL job." Part of the significance of Filene Better Values lies in just that point. When, not long ago, "bargains" in shoes were all the rage, it remained for Filene Better Values to offer the first really low prices on high-grade WHITE shoes! So it is that Filene Better Values mean MORE than mere lowness of price: They mean new fashion, timeliness, quality through and through, and good service when you buy. Which is reason enough for saying that

"Your dollars still go farther at Filene's"

KEARNEY ENTERS TAGUE FIGHT

Is Third East Boston Man to Oppose Congressman for Re-Election

Former Senator John J. Kearney of East Boston jumped into the Tenth Congressional District fight with the announcement that he is the "wage earners' candidate" and that there are too many lawyers in Congress now.

His reference to lawyers is taken to be a shot at Congressman Peter F. Tague, who is a candidate for re-election. Two others in the fight are Judge Joseph J. Murley of East Boston and James E. Maguire, editor of the East Boston Free Press.

Kearney, who has been identified with labor for several years, is now secretary and business agent of the Hotel and Restaurant Employes Union. He has served in the State Senate and House.

"The fact that there are 234 lawyers now holding seats in Congress indicates that it is time that a district of wage earners like the Tenth Congressional District should have a representative in Congress," he declared.

Other nomination papers were filed as follows: For the House, Harry D. O'Toole, Democrat, First District; Edward J. Caton, Democrat, First District; George Penshorn, Republican, Twenty-second District; Patrick E. Murray, Democrat, Thirteenth District; Charles H. Seales, Republican, Thirteenth District; for Republican State Committee, William M. Curtis, Sixth District.

FREE 6 HELD ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Former Police Chief Among Those Released by Federal Grand Jury's "No Bills"

For the second time within four months the Federal Grand Jury has failed to return true bills against defendants who have been arrested for violation of the prohibition law, the jury having reported "no bills" in the cases of six men who were arrested on the charge of either conspiring to violate the prohibition law or aiding in the transportation of smuggled liquor.

Former Chief of Police Patrick J. Welch of West Springfield, James Camp and Louis Belman of West Springfield, who were arrested some time ago on the charge of conspiracy to violate the prohibition law by transporting by automobile 110 cases of whiskey, are freed of the charge with the return of a "no bill" in their cases.

In the cases against Harold F. Lynch and Walter B. Clayton, both of Springfield, who were charged with transporting fifty cases of whiskey the grand jury returned "no bills."

A "no bill" was also returned against Charles S. McAloney of Somerville. The defendant, who buys grease from foreign steamers, bought three tubs of grease which upon being inspected by the customs officials were found to contain twelve bottles of liquor.

INDICT 4 FIRMS AS PROFITEERS

Swift, Armour, Hollis and Sugar Company Charged With Raising Prices

Federal Grand Jury indictments, the first brought in this State for alleged profiteering in the necessaries of life have been returned against the Independent Sugar Company, sugar brokers; Armour & Co., N. E. Hollis & Co., and E. C. Swift & Co., the last three being engaged in the wholesale meat business.

The indictments which were found against the several defendants who are engaged in business in this city were reported to Judge George W. Anderson of the Federal Court.

CHARGE EXCESS PROFITS.

The indictment against the Independent Sugar Company states that [illegible] charged [illegible] $2.10 [illegible] pounds of sugar [illegible] thus sold cost the defendant company 16 cents, yielding them a profit of more than [illegible] cents the pound.

Armour & Co., against whom a true bill was returned, are [illegible] charge of making excessive [illegible] charges on 1,100 pounds of New Zealand lamb which had been sold to Abner [illegible] of this city. The lamb according to the indictment cost the Armour Company a small fraction more than 9 cents the pound and was sold to Farnum at 25½ cents per pound, a profit of more than 15 cents the pound.

MADE 7½ CENTS ON BEEF.

The indictments against N. E. Hollis & Co. and E. C. Swift & Co. charge both with profiteering in beef. The Hollis Company, according to the indictment, sold to J. H. McCarthy of Boston 2,697 pounds of beef at 18 cents the pound, when the beef cost the defendant company 10½ cents the pound. The Swift Company is [illegible] on the charge of selling to [illegible] pounds of [illegible] at 17 cents the pound, which according to the indictment cost the defendant company [illegible] cents a pound.

All the indictments were brought [illegible] the defendants being charged with violation of the Food Control Act as amended October, 1919.

BOY DISAPPEARS FROM HOSPITAL THIRD TIME

CARUSO "FIRES" HIS CHAUFFEUR

East Hampton, L. I., July 8.—After having been employed by Enrico Caruso for more than seven years as a chauffeur, George Fitzgerald was discharged by the tenor and was given a bonus of $1,000. Caruso declared that the discharge had no connection with the $400,000 jewel robbery at his Summer home here last June, of which he exonerated the chauffeur. Fitzgerald said he fired a shot at a figure running from the house on the night of the robbery. Mrs. Caruso is said to have instigated the discharge.

30 HORSES SENT TO S. P. C. A. REST FARM

Three hydrant stations for watering horses have been opened in Boston within the past month and thirty horses have been sent to the rest farm of the S. P. C. A. at Methuen, according to the monthly report of President Francis H. Rowley. During June the officers of the society prosecuted forty-five cases, secured forty-three convictions, examined [illegible]810 animals and humanely destroyed fifty-four horses and 195 small animals.

3 SUGAR PROFITEERS FINED $12,000 EACH

Binghamton, N. Y., July 8.—Following the payment of $12,000 fines in the Federal Court here three self-confessed sugar profiteers were ordered to appear again for the exaction of more fines for their offenses. The defendants were Captain Harry Martin of Montreal, lake mariner, Robert B. James, wholesale grocer of Oswego, and A. A. Inman, a Fulton merchant.

SEES DANGER IN LACK OF COAL

Colver Tells How Railroads Should Work to Serve Whole Country

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—The work of the Federal Trade Commission was described in detail here today by William B. Colver, a member of the commission, before the National Association of Window Glass Manufacturers. Commenting on the law of supply and demand Commissioner Colver said that it did not work automatically and will not work at all without transportation.

[illegible] the season of lake navigation is gone and one-tenth of the needed coal for next Winter's supply has been moved to the head of the Lakes. This unless remedied means untold suffering and industrial shutdowns in the Northwest next Winter.

The industries of New England are actually [illegible] down this Summer for lack of coal.

As car shortage is largely responsible for these conditions, Commissioner Colver said all additional and government-supplied equipment should be handled as a unit, so that it may be mobilized in those sections of the country where seasonal movements of freight are on.

This does not necessarily mean government ownership or government operation, he said. It means the [illegible] government-supported equipment just as [illegible] Pullman cars are handled.

He pointed out that the way the Pullmans are mobilized [illegible] and seasonal [illegible] traffic, and having met it they are hurried away to meet the next emergency.

An Unfailing Way To Banish Hairs

Beauty Notes

Ugly hairy growths can be removed in the privacy of your own home if you get a small original package of delatone and mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the hairy surface. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then removed and the skin washed and every trace of hair will have vanished. No harm or inconvenience can result from this treatment, but be sure you get delatone.—Advertisement.

SEES FLIGHT OF ITALIAN KING

Preparations at Buckingham Palace Follow Arrival of Confidential Envoy

London, July 8.—The house steward of Buckingham Palace has been instructed to have put in order the rooms reserved for the reception of foreign sovereigns, Universal Service learns.

On the night before the order was given a messenger had arrived from the Italian court with a [illegible] message for King George.

Since no visit from King Victor Emmanuel is scheduled, the conclusion is whispered in some quarters that the Italian monarch may suddenly appear as a refugee or for some other urgent reason. The situation in Italy is known to be turbulent, though a tight censorship is kept on all Rome dispatches.

The suite now being put in order was last occupied by President and Mrs. Wilson.

$1,500,000 BID ON VON STEUBEN

Company to Make Former German Kronprinz Wilhelm "Finest Vessel Afloat"

Washington, July 8.—Bids have been received by the United States Shipping Board on the army transport Von Steuben, formerly the Kronprinz Wilhelm of the crack ex-German passenger fleet.

The Foreign Trade Development League, through Ford Fegers of New York, offered $1,500,000 for the vessel, to be paid in five instalments before the end of the year. This company will recondition the ship from her present shape as a transport to that of the finest vessel afloat, according to the bid.

A certified check for $1[illegible] is the [illegible] payment offered by the bidders [illegible] agreement [illegible] purchase price be paid [illegible] of the year, interest free.

Chairman Benson of the Shipping Board said that he would take the bid under advisement and announce the board's decision later. It is understood, however, that the bid will be accepted.

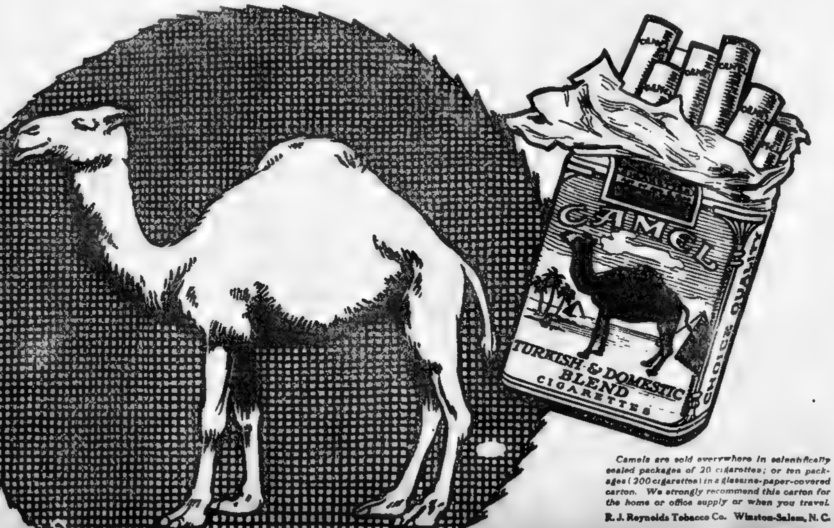
Camel
CIGARETTES

Here's the whole story—

CAMELS never let up in the genuine pleasure they supply smokers! That's because their quality is extraordinary and because they are an expert blend of choice Turkish and choice Domestic tobaccos. Camels never tire your taste, no matter how liberally you smoke, and never leave any unpleasant cigaretty aftertaste or any unpleasant cigaretty odor.

Every puff of Camels is a thrill of pleasure because their flavor is so refreshing—so unusual! Every puff convinces you more and more how greatly you prefer Camels blend to either kind of tobacco smoked straight. It's a fact you'll prove out for yourself that never have you smoked a cigarette so satisfying, so enjoyable, so always appetizing as Camels!

Camels popularity in every corner, bush and burg in the nation is the most convincing proof that they are made to meet your taste! For your own real satisfaction, compare Camels with any cigarette in the world at any price!



Camels are sold everywhere in scientifically sealed packages of 20 cigarettes; or ten packages (200 cigarettes) in a glassine-paper-covered carton. We strongly recommend this carton for the home or office supply or when you travel.

LAUCK REVEALS COAL 'OCTOPUS'

Morgan Head and Tail of Big Combine, Says Miners' Economic Expert

Serant [illegible] the [illegible] United States [illegible] squeezes the consum[illegible] and the wage earners [illegible] were made before the Anthracite [illegible] Commission today [illegible] economist.

Mr. Lauck charged [illegible] operators were [illegible] seven [illegible] the [illegible] and were engaged [illegible] campaign [illegible]

He said that the claim that the coal companies were independent was a legal fiction, that they unit into a single system or "the engrossing control of J. P. Morgan & Company," and that four members of the inner circle dominate seventy-five per cent of the total of [illegible] production.

The famous expert was appearing in behalf of the United Mine Workers in their fight for higher wages.

He [illegible] charged the operators with monopoly [illegible] profiteering [illegible] allegations he demanded [illegible] The operators refused [illegible] charges [illegible] between them and the public [illegible] and the wage earners.

[illegible] anthracite industry has been organized into a huge monopoly [illegible] in structure to an octopus," said Mr. Lauck. "Its head and body are a small group of banking interests. Its entwining arms are seven [illegible] systems which control at [illegible] entities [illegible] the anthracite mining operations of the country.

"Our contention is that an examination of the books of the anthracite coal combination is essential to the settlement of this wage question."

Mr. Lauck's seven questions, upon which the coal miners refused to shed any light, were:

1—Relation of wages to cost of production, profits and prices.

2—Profits.

3—Wholesale and retail prices of anthracite from 1913 to 1920.

4—Freight rates [illegible] of transportation.

5—Operating and financial performances of anthracite roads.

6—Combinations in the anthracite industry.

7—Cost of producing anthracite at the mines in March, 1920.

McCALL TO DROP TARIFF JOB

Will Devote His Time to Outside Interests, He Declares

Friends of Former Governor Samuel W. McCall, who was nominated for a place on the Tariff Commission by President Wilson, today criticized Senator Lodge for his failure to secure Senate confirmation of McCall's appointment.

The nomination, they declared, was sent to the Senate a full month before it adjourned, where it was allowed to remain dormant by the senior senator from Massachusetts. In addition to his being a member of the same political faith and from the same State as the nominee, they pointed out that Lodge, as a member of the Senate Finance Committee, to which these appointments are referred, would have had an excellent opportunity to "put across" the nomination had he cared to.

Although McCall has not yet declined or accepted the offer, his political followers said that it would not be accepted in view of the lack of confirmation. This has been strengthened by his acceptance of the chairmanship of the board of directors in the reorganized Old South Trust Company. The law prescribes that a member of the Tariff Commission cannot engage in outside business.

McCall refused to comment on his appointment other than that he had not accepted the place in its present uncertainty, which means that he would receive no salary until confirmed. He had outside interests, he said, to which he expected to devote considerable time.

CABLE MONEY SERVICE TO BELGIUM RE-OPENS

The Western Union Telegraph Company announces that arrangements have been made to resume direct money transfer service to all points in Belgium on July 15. The telegraph company in accepting remittances for persons in Belgium will convert the amounts deposited by the senders in dollars into the equivalent amount in Belgium francs at the approximate prevailing rate of exchange in New York at the time of transaction.

OLD SOUTH TRUST CO. REOPENS ON SATURDAY

The Old South Trust Company, which suspended business temporarily on December 18, 1919, by direction of Bank Commissioner Augustus L. Thorndike, will reopen Saturday morning by authority of Commissioner of Banks Joseph C. Allen, who has completed an exhaustive investigation of the company's affairs and reached the conclusion that it is financially sound and entitled to resume business.

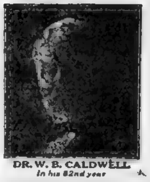
Hot Days Trying On Elderly Folks

Sluggish, languid, constipated feeling is quickly removed by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin

THOSE who are past the prime of life know the discomforts of hot weather. Exercise is tiring, and constant sitting around soon brings constipation. It is especially dangerous for elderly people to allow constipation to continue for it creates poisons in the system that may bring on a serious illness.

If you pass a single day without full and free elimination, do as so many thousands of elderly folks do and at once take a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and you will find prompt relief. It is only by doing this that you can be sure of feeling well. You must not trust constipation to correct itself.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is particularly suited to elderly people as it is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that acts gently and without griping. Unlike so many medicines, it can be used exclusively without losing its effect, and it does not weaken. Mr. Levi North, of Antwerp, N. Y., like Dr. Caldwell himself is in his 82nd year, and he has used only Syrup Pepsin for the last ten years. He is well and hearty, never has constipation, an ache or pain.



DR. W. B. CALDWELL
In his 82nd year

No person of advancing years should be without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin these summer days. Any druggist will sell it to you. It is economical.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from occasional or chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington Street, Monticello, Ill., for a free sample bottle of his wonderful Syrup Pepsin. 8 million bottles were bought at drug stores last year, the largest sale in the world

Is Your Back Giving Out?

"Every Picture Tells a Story"

DOES summer find you tired, weak—all worn out? Do you have a constant backache; feel lame and stiff, and without life or ambition for the simplest task? Surely, then, there's a reason why you feel so badly. More than likely it's your kidneys! You may have over-worked, eaten too much meat and had too little rest or sleep, all of which has thrown a heavy strain upon your kidneys. This may be the cause of your bad back, that nervous, "blue," depressed feeling, and that annoying kidney irregularity. Don't wait for some serious kidney illness. Get back your health and keep it! Live more simply and sensibly for awhile and help the weakened kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. Doan's have helped thousands. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

These are Boston Cases:

E. Fourth St. (South Boston)

Fred Le Carn, blacksmith, 646 E. Fourth Street, So. Boston, says: "I gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for I know they can't be beat for kidney trouble. I keep this medicine on hand, and at times when I over-strain or take cold my back aches and I have soreness over my kidneys. The action of my kidneys becomes irregular, too. Doan's have never failed to relieve the backaches and put my kidneys in good shape."

Dorchester Ave. (South Boston)

Mrs. William F. Sterritt, 767 Dorchester Ave., South Boston, says: "My back was weak and painful, and when I stood a little while or did much walking, my back felt as though it was breaking. Nights I couldn't sleep very well and would get up in the morning feeling lame and sore. I had no energy to go about my housework and during the day I suffered from severe headaches. After using a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills my back felt a good deal better and I was fixed up in the best of shape."

Over four years later, Mrs. Sterritt added: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills made for me has been a lasting one."

Paris St. (East Boston)

Mrs. A. Lavery, 66 Paris St., East Boston, says: "I always recommend Doan's Kidney Pills when I hear anyone complain of kidney trouble. I know from experience that Doan's Kidney Pills are just as represented. I had backaches almost daily and felt dull and tired out. Frequent headaches and dizziness annoyed me and my kidneys acted irregularly. Three boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills made my back well and strong and put my kidneys in good shape."

NO package of Doan's Kidney Pills is genuine unless it bears the maple-leaf trade-mark and the signature—"Jas. Doan."

Princeton St. (East Boston)

Edwin F. Narroway, prop. of shoe repair shop, 246 Princeton Street, East Boston, says: "I think the continual sitting at my work is what weakened my kidneys and caused attacks of backache. Often it was difficult for me to get up from a chair, without getting a stitch in my back. Nights I was annoyed by having to get up frequently to pass the kidney secretions and they were highly colored. I also had frequent headaches and dizzy spells. I always used Doan's Kidney Pills right away and they were sure to fix me up in good shape. I think highly of this medicine and I owe my good health at my advanced age to Doan's."

Tremont Street

W. S. Ripley, Sr., composer of music, 228 Tremont Street, says: "I began to have a dull, tired ache in the small of my back. It hurt me to bend and I couldn't turn in bed without sharp pains catching my back. Mornings I felt unrefreshed and lacked ambition. The kidney secretions deposited a sediment. If I stooped to pick up anything I got dizzy and my sight blurred. After I had used half a box of Doan's Kidney Pills I began to feel better and about two and one-half boxes cured me."

BRAVES HOPE TO REPEAT FAMOUS PENNANT DRIVE OF 1914

FACE REDS IN OPENER TODAY

Walter Reuther Must Be Beaten to Start Tribe in the Right Direction

Cincinnati, July 8.—Boston's Braves today were all set for as tough a test as can be devised for a National League team these days, a string of games with the Western clubs in Western territory.

There is not a single Western outfit in the National League this year that is not a pennant contender. The Pirates appear to be the poorest of the bunch and they recently finished breaking even in a four game series with the world champion Robins who also are the league leaders at this writing.

Every club the Braves meet on this trip ranks above them in the standing of the clubs. But that does not daunt the Stallings tribe one bit. They still remember what they pulled in 1914 when they went from last place in July to the world championship in October and they still have hopes of making another such drive this year.

Sure of Bettering Last Trip's Mark

They at least feel sure of doing better on this jaunt than on their first Western journey of the current season, when they dropped eight in a row after having won that many straight.

If the Braves get by today they will feel much better. All they are asked to do for a starter is get the best of Walter Reuther, the league's leading southpaw, who has not permitted a run in his last two starts. He blanked the Pirates with four hits Sunday and in his previous start held the Cardinals in the hollow of his hand.

Reuther Aims to Win 30 Games

Reuther is aiming for thirty victories this season and has only to maintain the clip he has set so far to achieve that many triumphs.

Prospects for a large attendance at the series here are not good as the teams must buck the closing days of the big race meeting at Latonia. However, many of the horsemen will be out Sunday and thus partly make up for what they draw away from the ball park the first three days of the series.

Mack Buys Harrison

Philadelphia, July 8.—Pitcher Rube Harrison of the Hanover (Blue Ridge League) team has been purchased by Manager Connie Mack of the Athletics. Jones, the Horvard pitcher, who recently signed with the Athletics, was sent to the Hanover club, which in addition receives a cash bonus. More money is to be paid in event of the pitcher making good.

BROWNS INVADE FENWAY PARK

Joe Bush Elected to Repel Attack by George Sisler and Comrades

By NICK FLATLEY.

The crippled Red Sox started to entertain their Western brethren of the American League this p. m. They had on hand the St. Louis Browns, who remain in our midst some four afternoons. Last time that James Burke steered his athletes into the Fenway, he was defeated very successively, not being able to collect a single game.

He looked for better things this time, as his heroes have been ratting along very well indeed, while the natives are what you might call all shot to atoms. The recent doings of the Sox have been somewhat dismal, but better things can be looked for on the home pasture.

The visitors have as their leading man, the only George Sisler, who is out to set a new batting record for the A. L. George doesn't bust as many homers or [illegible] as Babe Ruth, but he sure can click the [illegible]. He is also quite a fielder and base runner, and everything. He's going along at a clip that Ty Cobb in his palmy days never surpassed, though the Brownie lacks the color that helped make the Georgian famous.

The latest Sox cripple is Captain Harry Hooper who is resting comfortably, they say, at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, where he underwent an operation on a bruised leg muscle. According to the doc, who did the job, Harry will be back in the pastime in some two weeks.

Tim Hendryx, who expected to get into the game when the team returned this time, still wears a stiff neck and looks like a spectator for at least another fortnight. Waite Hoyt is coming along, however, and practicing daily.

The club scouts are signing up youngsters, but having plenty of trouble getting the necessary kind. In the next few weeks, however, many a youth will have a big league chance that didn't expect such glory awhile back.

It was Bullet Joseph Bush's turn to do the local hurling, and Joseph has been tossing good baseball right along, though at times his support has been greatly off color. The Sox seldom slip in the field on the Fenway lot, so the Bulleter has a fine chance to collect a game provided his stuff accompanies him to the hill.

DUFFY BATTLES JOE JAWSON

Everett Scrapper and Milwaukee Miller Booked to Box 12 Rounds at C. A. C.

By JACK CONWAY.

Billy Duffy, Everett welterweight, will resume operations in the ring when he clashes with Joe Jawson of Milwaukee in a twelve-round bout at the Commercial A. C. tomorrow night. Duffy was forced to take a layoff two months ago on account of an injured hand, but is in condition once more and prepared to meet all comers.

Duffy is a satisfactory performer and capable of holding his own with the best men of his weight in this part of the country. Jawson has shown to advantage in his Boston starts and looks for a win over the Everett youth.

Barney McIntee of South Boston will have Teddy Murphy of the West End as an opponent in the semi-final of eight rounds. There will also be two sixes.

REITER TO TEACH SUMMER FOOTBALL

Howard R. Reiter, director of athletics at Lehigh, has been secured to act as football professor at the Harvard Summer School. He started his instruction today, and will give five lessons a week, each lasting an hour, of which time one-half will be spent outdoors practicing football fundamentals. Reiter has made up a diagram of the principal winning formations used the past season, and will give considerable attention to them as the session progresses.

HARVARD GYM TEACHER QUITS IN SEPTEMBER

Carl L. Schrader, instructor in gymnastics at Harvard for a great number of years, has tendered his resignation to take effect in September. Schrader, who has likewise been a big factor in the development of the Sargent School, aiding to make it the foremost institution of its kind for women, will be in complete charge of the school when it reopens next Fall. Schrader is an all around expert in physical education.

JOHNSON MUST TRAVEL TO WIN

Colored Distance Runner Made Favorite in 10,000-Metre Final at Stadium

By CHARLES E. PARKER.

Up to and including two years ago a wild, derisive guffaw would have greeted the assertion that R. Earl Johnson, or a member of his race would finish a 10,000-metre race, while any inference that R. Earl or any of his people would win such an event would have called forth suggestions of a visit to a psychopathic hospital.

It's not so today, however, for R. Earl Johnson has been installed the favorite in the 10,000-metre Olympic tryout run at the Harvard Stadium next week.

R. Earl Johnson is an Afro-American, who wears the colors of the Morgan Community Club of West Virginia, and he is the first young man of color to make a success of long distance running. There have been several negro sprinters of real ability; a number of dusky-hued hurdlers and field event men and one or two excellent middle-distance performers of Afro-American blood, but never before has one of their number made a success of long distance running. Athletic followers were generally agreed that the temperament of the race was against its success in a [illegible] [illegible] of speed or [illegible] R. Earl Johnson [illegible] opposition in this race and will be forced to travel every bit as well as he did at Franklin Field and possibly a little bit better if he is to win.

The list of more prominent entrants and their times for the distance follow:

10,000-Metre Run—R. Earl Johnson, Morgan Community, 32 min. 38 4-5 sec.; George Cornetta, N. Y. A. C., 32 min. 56 2-5 sec.; Pat Flynn, Paulist A. C., 33 min. 2 3-5 sec.; A. Patisoul Haskell Inst., 33 min. 36 3-5 sec.; S. Christenson, Logan Square A. C., 33 min. 53 1-5 sec. The marks of Fred Faller Dorchester Club; Charles Pores, Millrose A. C.; James Henigan, Dorchester Club; G. S. Gobler, Chicago A. A. are not known. John Gallagher, the old Yale runner who figured prominently in the B. A. A. Marathon of 1912, and who has been entered by the Pittsburg A. A., is reported to have covered the distance in practice in 32 min. 3 2-5 sec.

MADONNA WINNER OF 35-MILE PACED RACE

Vincent Madonna won the thirty-five mile motor-paced race at the Revere cycle track, with George Wiley second and Frank Corey third. The time was 51 minutes 14 seconds.

The two heats in the special sprint race went to Orlando Piani with Willie Keller second. The first, a mile event, was reeled off in 2 minutes 27 seconds, and the second, a half-mile race, in 1 minute 18 3-5 seconds. A two-mile exhibition was given by

Sale of Metric
Silk Shirts

We have steadfastly refused to offer our customers any of the silk shirt trash—carelessly designed, skimped in the cutting, slighted in the tailoring and frequently of imperfect fabrics—with which the market has recently been flooded at supposed-to-be attractive prices.

But here's a different proposition. METRIC Silk Shirts—a standard brand of known quality and value, produced by a manufacturer with 40 years reputation as one of the best makers of fine shirts—all of the choicest fabrics, full cut, beautifully tailored and exhibiting all the niceties which go to make really fine shirts—selling at a price that makes them far and away the biggest shirt bargains of the season.

The cloths are Peau de Crepe, satin striped Crepe de Chine, La Jerz, Japanese Habutai and extra heavy tub silks with satin stripes. If bought at regular prices, they could not be retailed under $10 to $13.50.

THE RESTLESS SEX

A Romantic Film Drama With MARION DAVIES

By ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

Watch for This Story in Motion Pictures

"The Restless Sex," soon to be seen in all leading motion picture theatres, is a Cosmopolitan Production, released as a Paramount-Artcraft picture.

What Has Happened So Far

John Cleland, a [illegible], with one young son, Jim, away at school, reads about the sad case of a little homeless girl and decides to adopt her. He finds [illegible] is Stephanie Quest, that she comes of a fine family, [illegible] have died and that she has a very rich aunt. He consults Chiltern Grismer, head of the United Charities, and learns that the girl is a distant connection, with a possible claim on moneys in the Grismer family. Cleland adopts her and takes her home with him, very much excited at this new interest in his life. Cleland's son Jim returns for the Easter vacation.

"WE'VE got to look for her, old chap."

"Yes," said the boy, flushing.

Cleland Senior, of course, expected to assist at the first interview, but Stephanie was not to be found.

"Steve! Where are you?"

She was [illegible] opped him [illegible].

"I'm [illegible]."

"How do you do," he said calmly.

"I'm very well. [illegible] you are, too."

Another pause [illegible] tent [illegible].

"M[illegible] with [illegible] be [illegible]."

"[illegible] * * * Do you [illegible]?"

"No."

Janet [illegible].

"Do they [illegible] other?" he asked [illegible].

M[illegible] on the floor [illegible] to that blessed [illegible] in the [illegible] like two lambs [illegible] the fine [illegible] lady they [illegible] April day.

Being Worshipped

After a while [illegible] upstairs, cautiously, the soft carpet muffling his tread.

Jim, seated on the side of his bed, was being worshipped, permitting it [illegible]. Stephanie, cross-legged on the floor, adored him with awed upturned gaze, her clasped hands [illegible].

"To be a writer," Jim condescended to explain, "a man has to work like the dickens, study everything you ever heard of, go out and have adventures, notice everything that people say and do, how they act and walk and talk. It's a very interesting profession, Steve. * * * What are you going to be?"

"I don't know," she whispered, "—nothing, I suppose."

"Don't you want to be something? Don't you want to be celebrated?"

She thought, hesitatingly, that it would be pleasant to be celebrated.

"Then you'd better think up something to do to make the world notice you."

"I shouldn't know what to do."

"Father says that the thing you'd rather do to amuse yourself is the proper profession to take up. What do you like to do?"

"Ought I to try to write, as you do?"

"You mustn't ask me. Just think what you'd rather do than anything else."

A Lame Explanation.

The boy laughed:

"I don't mean that."

"No, I know. * * * Perhaps I [illegible] pictures [illegible]."

"Do you like to dress and dance and act in private theatricals?"

"No. I never acted in a play, or danced folk dances except [illegible]. And I never had things of my own to make pictures with, except once I had a piece of blue chalk and I made pictures on the wall in the hall."

"What hall?"

"It was a very dirty hall. I was punished for making pictures on the wall."

"Oh," said the boy, soberly.

After a moment the boy jumped up.

"I'm hungry. I believe luncheon [illegible] ready. Come on, Steve."

The child could scarcely speak from pride and happiness when the boy condescended to take her hand and lead her out of the enchanted place into the magic deeps below.

At 9 o'clock that evening Stephanie made the curtsey which Janet had taught her to Cleland Senior and was about to repeat the process to Jim when the latter [illegible] held out his hand.

"Good night, Steve," he said reassuringly. "You've got to be a regular girl with me."

She took his hand, held it, drew closer. To his consternation he realized that she was expecting to kiss him, and he hastily wrung her hand and sat down.

A Pretty Scene

The child's face flushed as she turned to Cleland Senior for the kiss to which he had accustomed her. Her lips were quivering and the older man understood.

"Good night, darling," he said, drawing her close into his arms, and whispering in her ear, gayly: "You've scared him, Steve. He's only a boy, you know."

Suddenly it struck her as funny; she smiled, the tears dried in her eyes. She twisted around, and, putting her lips against the elder man's ear, she whispered:

"I'm afraid of him, but I do like him."

That appealed to her once more as exquisitely funny. She laughed, snuggled closer, observed by Jim with embarrassment and boredom. But he was too polite to betray it.

Stephanie, with one arm around Cleland's neck, squeezed herself tightly against him and recounted in a breathless whisper her impressions of his only son.

"I do like him so much, dad! He talked to me upstairs about his school and the boys there. He was very kind to me. Do you think I'm too little for him to like me? I'm growing rather fast, you know. I'd do anything for him, anything. I wish you'd tell him that. Will you?"

"Yes, I will, dear. Now, run upstairs to Janet."

"Shall I say good-night to Jim again?"

"If you like. But don't kiss him, or you'll scare him."

An Agreement

They both had a confidential and silent fit of laughter over this, then the child slid from his knees, dropped a hasty, confused curtesy in Jim's direction, turned and scampered upstairs. And a gale of laughter came floating out of the [illegible] as Janet shut the [illegible].

[illegible] glow of a lamp fell over father and son, undulating [illegible] smoke lifted between them from the elder man's cigar.

"Well, Jim?"

"Yes, father."

"[illegible] like her?"

ABOUT OUR GOOD FRIEND
Jennings

Copyright, 1920, by The Ledger Syndicate

JENNINGS.
VARIATIONS — Jenkins, Jenks, Jennison.
RACIAL ORIGIN — Middle English, also Welsh.
SOURCE—A given name.

THOUGH you would not think so to look at them, the name of Jennings and the foregoing variations are simply one classification of the innumerable host of family names which have developed from that most common of all given names, John.

From its original Hebrew form of Jehohanan, the name of John has developed into nearly every sort of sound around which the human tongue can twist, through pagan as well as Christian races. Indeed, it is held that the name of Hannibal, the great Carthaginian warrior who crossed the Alps with his elephants and nearly smashed ancient Rome, was simply a variation of John. Carthage was founded by Phoenicians, who came from the coast near Palestine.

But in England the name of John came to be spelled in many different ways, according to the linguistic tendencies of individual localities. It is found as Jon, Jan and Jen, among other forms too numerous to mention. "Jen-kin" (little Jen) was a very common development from the latter, from which the surname of "Jenkin's son," or Jenkinson was derived quite normally, being shortened in the course of time into the variations noted. Where the name Jennings traces back to Ireland it was formerly MacShoneen (descendants of John), changed to the English form under the pressure of English laws which at various times in various sections of that country forbade the use of native family names.

The arrival of the first Jennings in America is uncertain as to date. But, very early in colonial times, seven Jennings brothers figure, and from the well established dates of these, the family starts its history, though it is very well known that the family had been here, one generation, and probably two, before the seven brothers.

It is generally supposed that the first Jennings came here on the ship Caledonia, and that his name was Benjamin. The will of his wife, Priscilla, establishes the fact that there were Jennings here before the brothers. This is a quaint will; in it she leaves to "my daughter Elizabeth in consideration of her dutiful behaviour, my chest, all the beds and bedding my 'loam' and tackling, and my largest iron pot." The family settled, and early became honored citizens of Trenton, New Jersey.

Tomorrow—Seymour.

Bachelor Girl's Reflections
By HELEN ROWLAND

Copyright, 1920, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

TO a woman, at eighteen, marriage is an adventure; at twenty-two, a career; at thirty, a goal, and at forty, a haven.

A woman's youthful love affairs are never so thrilling and romantic as when she retells them to her husband for the forty-seventh time.

Everything comes to the woman who waits, but by the time it arrives she is usually either too dead to speak to it, or waiting for some other man.

Eve may have had nothing but a fig leaf to wear; but, at least, she had the delightful consolation of knowing that no other woman could come out two weeks later in a cheap imitation of it.

A clever woman could make a fool of almost any man—if he wouldn't forestall her by falling in love with some little fluff with one brain cell, and making a fool of himself.

A woman's enemies never strike her when she's down. They merely step aside and look gleefully on while her friends do it.

As long as a man in love always says twice as much as he means, and a woman in love never says half as much as she means, there will never be that perfect understanding between them of which the poets sing.

A man asks only to be reasonably happy some of the time; but a woman thinks that life is a failure, if she isn't "unreasonably happy," every minute of the time.

And then, again, given a sweetheart, a becoming hat and naturally curly hair, any woman can be perfectly happy—if she has a lot of other things.

When Hearts Are Trumps
By Virginia Terhune Van de Water

CHAPTER XXXI.

CYNTHIA PAIGE had been watching nervously for her niece's return. She was intensely anxious as to the outcome of this afternoon's excursion.

She met Barbara in the lower hall as the girl entered the house.

"Oh," she [illegible], glancing out into the street as John Brandon drove off. "Isn't Mr. Brandon coming in?"

Barbara shook her head. She felt a wild desire to laugh. In her excited condition her aunt's question seemed absurd.

"As he is already on his way down the street, it is obvious that he is not coming in, Auntie," she said. Then, with a quick change of tone, "Where is Uncle?"

"In the library. Why?"

"I want to speak to him." And the girl went on into the library, closing the door behind her.

She Stood Still

The woman stood still, too astonished at the moment to make any motion.

That something of importance had occurred was evident. It was also evident that Barbara did not intend to explain this occurrence until she had had an interview with her uncle.

A spasm of fear gripped Cynthia Paige. Suppose the child suspected the truth about Robert's letters—suppose she told Arthur that she cared more for Robert than for Brandon. Suppose——

But no, it could not be! Common sense reasserted itself. There was no way in which Barbara could have learned the fate of Robert's communications. It was a mercy this was so, for Arthur would never condone his sister's act. Arthur was the kind of man who cannot be convinced that sometimes it is necessary to do that which might not be considered strictly honorable in order to bring about a great good.

Well, soon she would know what was going on behind that door. She dare not approach close enough to listen to the conversation inside. Eavesdropping was a dangerous practice—much more dangerous than destroying letters when nobody was at hand to surprise one in the process.

Barbara's Message

It was like Barbara to turn to her uncle rather than to the aunt who had managed everything for her. She, Cynthia, had advised the child not to talk of Brandon to Arthur until all was settled. Perhaps all was now settled.

The idea was so welcome that she decided to ignore her niece's seeming ingratitude.

"Uncle"—breathlessly—"I have something to tell you."

She stood in front of him as she used to stand when she was a child and had a confession to make, her fingers tightly interlocked. She looked so young, so appealing, that the man held out his arms to her and drew her down upon his knees.

"What is it, little girl? Or would you rather that your old uncle guessed."

"No, I must tell you myself. Mr. Brandon says he loves me. We are engaged."

With a stifled sob she dropped her head on her uncle's shoulder.

Arthur Paige had not seen his niece cry since she was twelve years old, and for a moment there was such a lump in his throat that he could not speak. Then with a strong effort, he conquered his own weakness, although his voice was husky when he spoke.

"There, there, darling! Cry all you want if it makes you feel any better. Why, do you know that when your blessed mother told me of her engagement to your father—my dear brother—she cried, too—just for happiness! She and I were dear friends, you know—so she told me the news before your father did."

Barbara sat up and wiped her eyes.

"Did my mother really cry, too, when she was engaged?" she asked. "I wonder if all girls do."

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have PAREGORIC or laudanum to make it sleep. These drugs will produce sleep, and A FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the SLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children unless you or your physician know of what it is composed. Of Course You Love Your Baby.

You love it because of its very helplessness, because it can't tell you what is the matter when it feels bad. It can only cry and look to you for help. But the more you love baby, the more you want to help baby, the more you ought to realize what a wonderful remedy Fletcher's Castoria is. It has been used for babies' ailments for over thirty years.

An experienced doctor discovered Fletcher's Castoria especially for babies' use. It is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. Doctors who know what is safe and best for babies have only good to say of it.

Don't neglect your baby. Get a bottle of Fletcher's Castoria and give baby a few doses of it. See how the little one smiles at you as if trying to thank you for helping it. FIGHT DELAY IN SCIENCE CASE

Dittemore Files Demurrer Against State's Move to Make Church a Charity

Counsel for John V. Dittemore filed in the Supreme Court a demurrer to the bill of Attorney-General Allen, which seeks to have the court declare that the Christian Science Church is a public charity, and as such should be administered under the direction of the court.

Many of the allegations contained in the Attorney-General's bill are by the demurrer claimed to be irrelevant from any point of view, and to delay the progress of the suit of the trustees of the publishing society against the directors of the church, as prayed for by the Attorney-General, would be inequitable and unjust, according to Dittemore, as no evidence has been introduced that would warrant such action.

Mrs. Eddy, the demurrer avers, never intended that the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, should be an incorporated religious body, as the members do not have any voice in the direction of its affairs. Mr. Eddy's deed of trust of 1892 is alleged to be much broader in its scope than is assumed by the Attorney-General and includes the perpetual raising of money by contribution and the spending of it for the maintenance of public worship.

Even if the Mother Church could be held to be a separate, independent trust, it is contended that the Attorney-General has failed to show any sound reason for the court to interfere with it, as it does not say that the funds of the trust have been misapplied, or that the trustees, whoever they may be, have died or resigned, or that the purpose of the trust cannot be carried out.

POLICEMAN GIVES BLOOD TO AID SICK WOMAN

By Universal Service.

Montclair, N. J., July 8.—William Swanson, a Montclair policeman, gave a quart of his blood in transfusion to Mrs. Frank Hoffman, suffering from sepsis, whose condition was pronounced greatly improved as a result. Swanson was the fourth member of the force to volunteer his blood in transfusion operations in the last two months.

Pyramid

Makes Friends

Ask anyone who has ever used Pyramid Pile Treatment what it means to get relief from itching, bleeding or protruding piles or hemorrhoids.

The fact that almost every druggist in the U. S. and Canada carries Pyramid in stock at 60 cents a box shows how highly this treatment is regarded.

Swift & Company's Profit From all Sources

20 year average per dollar of sales 2½¢
1919 profit per lb. of all products ¼¢
1919 profit on invested capital 6⅗%
1919 profit from average family, buying only Swift products - - $2.02
(less than a nickel a week)

THESE figures show the small effect that packers' profits have on either the price paid to the producer or the price paid by the consumer.

The packer is not responsible for high prices.

Swift & Company "turned over" its invested capital (capital stock and surplus) about six times in 1919.

This fact, coupled with our large volume of business, made it possible to operate on a profit of 1⅙ cents per dollar of sales.

Our books are audited by certified public accountants.

We want the public to know and to understand our business.

Corporation Earnings

For April the Southern Pacific reports a net operating deficit of $1,402,840 against net operating income of $1,363,400 for the corresponding month last year. For four months net operating income amounted to $6,566,185 against $5,894,681.

Net earnings by the Kaufmann Department Stores, Inc., last year amounted to $2,039,881 after taxes and all charges. This is equal to $25.37 a share earned on the outstanding common stock after allowing for preferred dividends as compared with $781,218, or $6.62 a share earned in 1918. Final surplus after payment of preferred dividends amounted to $1,902,881 as compared with $639,463 in 1918.

Loft, Inc., sales from July 1 to July 5, inclusive showed 67 per cent. increase over corresponding period last year.

June sales by the F. W. Woolworth Company totaled $10,817,956 as compared with $8,649,958 in June, 1919, an increase of 26.58 per cent., and for the six months of $60,395,242 as compared to $51,059,070 for the corresponding period of 1919, an increase of 18.29 per cent.

Cotton Market Opening

New York, July 8.—The cotton market opened unusually active, with prices 10 to 18 points lower except September and odd months, which started 30 points higher. July was the weakest position, due to the issuance of notices on about 2,500 bales. Selling of other positions came from Liverpool and Wall Street, while New Orleans and other concerns bought new crop deliveries. After the opening trading remained active at a net decline of about 25 points. Opening prices were: July, 39.40 to 39.05, off 27 to 62; October, 33.10, off 18; December, 31.65 to 31.61, off 12 to 16; January, 30.90, off 22; March, 30.32, off 29; May, 29.80, off 17.

Buy Options On German Marks Good for Six Months

The fact that German money is selling at a small fraction of its normal value should convince even the most skeptical that purchases now offer a wonderful opportunity for large profits. Exchange experts predict a sharp advance within the next few months.

10,000 Marks Can Be Controlled for $50.00
100,000 Marks Can Be Controlled for $400.00

Buying options limits your risk as the original cost constitutes your entire liability. The cost of an option involves the use of about one-sixth as much money as would be required to buy marks outright. Should the marks held on option advance to only one-half normal value the returns on $50.00 would be over $750.00.

Send remittance, stating number of marks you wish to option at above rates. We urge prompt action as exchange fluctuates rapidly.

Send for explanatory circular.

RAILS IMPROVE IN FORENOON

Steels and Motors Are the Leaders; Gains Range From Fractions to Three Points

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were strong in New York at noon, prices then being close to the highest level of the morning. Steels and motors remained leaders throughout the forenoon. Rails showed considerable improvement in the second hour.

Several specialties were prominent issues. U. S. Food Products and Mexican Petroleum were weak, each being off more than a point. Trading was active, first hour transactions totaling more than 260,000 shares. Call money opened at 7 per cent. Foreign exchange was steady, quotations showing little change.

Gains were the rule when business began, but they ruled small, and while the market was strong it did not have the support given at the outset on Wednesday. First prices averaged from fractions to more than a point higher. The best showing in earliest trading was made by American Locomotive, Barrett, National Aniline, Crucible, Replogle, American International, Bosch Magneto, Sumatra, Baldwin, Central Leather, Continental Can, Pressed Steel Car, Studebaker, Industrial Alcohol, U. S. Rubber, Utah Copper, Worthington Pump, Southern Railway and White Motor. Stromberg was a first hour feature. It advanced more than three points within a few minutes. Vanadium was up a point on its first sale, but reacted quickly. More demand from the outside was reported. It is said that the public is again showing some interest, although as yet the manifestation is slight. Liberty bonds were a shade higher. Motors, chemicals and steels were the strongest groups during the first hour. Oils and rails were up on the whole, but not uniform in movement. Most issues had increased gains by mid-morning.

WAITING FOR RAIL RATES.

No doubt is entertained but that the Labor Board will grant a big wage increase to rail workers, but there is much more hope than certainty as to what the Interstate Commerce Commission will do about freight rates. Traders are waiting to learn. Railroad shares act as if they would advance radically if investors were provided with more security as to returns. Southern Railway was the most active carrier for a while during the forenoon, making a good gain. Others improved in the second hour. For March, roads which do about 80 per cent. of the country's transportation business report increases aggregating $64,895,583 in operating revenue and but $687,348 in net. For the first quarter of the year gross increased $205,162,135 and net but $20,571,124.

LARGER GAINS IN BOSTON

Strength Marks Local List at the Opening and Later; Curb Is Dull

Stocks were up two to one at the start in Boston, and this ratio was maintained in the local market throughout the forenoon. Gains were larger in the second hour and ranged from fractions to five points. The greatest advance was achieved by United Fruit. There were some weak spots in the list, however. Mohawk receded three on its first sale, after closing Thursday with a gain of more than three. Trading was of fair volume. Commission house attendance is increasing.

Among issues to advance a point or more were Boston & Maine, West End, Torrington, New River preferred, Swift International and Root & Van Dervoort. Fractional gains were made by Boston Elevated, Copper Range, North Butte, New Cornelia, New Haven, United Shoe, Simms Magneto, Wickwire and Gray & Davis. Stocks to recede more than a point included United Drug first preferred and Warren Brothers. Smaller losses were imposed upon American Woolen preferred, Ventura, National Leather, Mexican Investment and Waldorf.

CURB OPENED VERY DULL.

The Curb market was very dull at the start, and while most of the leaders advanced, the tone could not be called strong at that time. Active issues were Albany Divide, Eureka and Mutual. Strong ones were the two first named, Homa, Pilgrim, Mexican Silver and Southwestern Miami. Wear issues included Superior Oil and Sunburst.

At the end of an hour Albany Divide was unchanged at 1⅛, Eureka was off 2 cents at 47 cents, Mutual 2 cents at 63 cents and Superior Oil 2 cents at 4 cents. Ophir was up 1 cent at 59 cents.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

June results are reported by the Alaska Gold Mines Company as being, tons milled 144,790, heads 84.1 per cent., extraction 79.07 per cent., tailings 17.6 cents.

The nominating committee of the Boston Stock Exchange will be in session in the office of the secretary this morning at 11 o'clock to receive suggestions regarding nominees.

A coal car shortage is still affecting production at the New River Company's mine, but the management expects that the output will soon be averaging close to 200,000 tons a month. This corporation has declared two dividends of $1.50 each on the preferred stock, both payable July 20 on stock of record July 10. These dividends are on account of accumulated payments due August 1 and November 1, 1913.

June production by the Shattuck Arizona Company was 198,327 pounds of copper, 661,746 of lead, 33,702 ounces of silver and 50 ounces of gold. For six months production was 1,633,859 pounds of copper, 3,673,983 pounds of lead, 160,369 ounces of silver and 2,230 of gold.

The Board of Bank Incorporation has granted charters to the Swampscott Co-operative Bank and to the Aldenville Co-operative Bank of Chicopee.

Newly chartered Massachusetts corporations include the Cameo Co., Inc., of Boston, capital $200,000; Massachusetts Signalite Sales Corporation of Boston, capital $100,000; National Bread Wrapping Machine Co., capital $200,000; New England Consolidated Farms, Inc., of Boston, capital $150,000; Powdrell & Alexander, Inc., of Boston, capital $100,000; Taunton Drapery Mills, Inc., of Taunton, capital $250,000.

Lee, Higginson & Co., fiscal agents for Switzerland, head a syndicate placing $25,000,000 of the twenty-year 8 per cent. sinking fund gold bonds of the government of Switzerland, maturing July 1, 1940. This loan is part of a plan to electrify Swiss Federal Railways. Water power will play a great part in this national improvement.

The Brookline Trust Company has been granted permission to open a branch in Washington square of that town.

Vice-President Seton Porter of the American Oil Engineering Corporation announces, regarding developments by that company in Stephens County, Texas, that well No. 2 is flowing about 570 barrels per day, well No. 3 about 130 barrels, and well No. 5 about 350 barrels. Total production up to about 1,000 barrels a day. Well No. 4 is a dry hole.

Enough Hands for Harvesting

The Agricultural Department hears that an army of 100,000 farm hands is moving across the wheat belt and making the best harvest time in many years. "For the first time in many years farmers are not handicapped for want of help," says Director Taylor of the Bureau of Farm Management.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

Final Assessment Notice

Hecla Divide Mining Company

To those who have not yet paid the assessment on stock of this company, this final notice is given.

The call was levied on stockholders of record May 26, 1920. The payment was due June 24, 1920.

Any stock on which the assessment has not been paid on July 15, 1920, will be delinquent and (unless paid before) will be sold on July 29, 1920, to pay the amount of the assessment and costs of advertising. This sale will be in Nevada and the Boston office of the company will not accept payments after July 15, 1920, because of the difficulty of notifying the Nevada office.

The address of the Boston office is 85 Devonshire St.

H. C. PRATT,
Treasurer.

Telephone Main 6716.

$350,000,000 CAPITAL FOR CHEMICAL COMBINE

So-called chemical stocks have been strong in New York, being among the leaders yesterday, and the demand is due to reports that a big merger is pending. Regarding plans, the Boston News Bureau says:

> We are assured that the consolidation of the big chemical companies is not "off," but, on the other hand, will be consummated in the very near future.
>
> We are informed that the new company will have a capital of $350,000,000, and that National Aniline will get stock in new company sufficient to make present stock worth par.
>
> We understand that the aggregate earnings of the companies to be embraced in the merger—Barrett, National Aniline, General Chemical and Semet Solvay—are now running at rate of $30,000,000 annually, of which National Aniline contributes about $12,000,000.

Town and City Loans

Gardner, Mass., will receive bids until 8 p. m. Monday, July 12, for the purchase, at discount, of a temporary loan of $75,000 maturing $25,000 December 16, 23 and 30, 1920.

Newport, R. I., will receive bids until 5 p. m., July 9, for a temporary loan of $15,000, in anticipation of taxes, dated July 12 and payable September 3, 1920.

WAITING FOR RATE AND WAGE DECISIONS

Both rail managements and labor are awaiting decisions by government boards as to what increases will be granted for freight carrying and for wages. Interstate Commerce Commissioners are mute as to what will be done about rates, but G. W. Hanger, member of the U. S. Railroad Labor Board, says a wages award will be made soon. Two million workers want a raise which will aggregate a billion dollars a year. Regarding the cost put upon the public by higher freight rate, the Girard Trust Co. of Philadelphia says:

> "A man will pay $5 for theatre tickets, plus 50 cents war tax, and regard the transaction as an evening's amusement.
>
> "But that war tax alone on those tickets would pay for extra freight charge in carrying 100 suits of clothes from Philadelphia maker to Baltimore wearers. Precisely half a cent for the best suit is what that 30 per cent. increase spells when the suit is carried by a railroad, say 100 miles.
>
> "Go to a baseball game any afternoon and you will see men stand in line for the privilege of buying a ticket for a good seat. Just the war tax alone on one such baseball ticket equals proposed additional freight rate on all the hats worn by 150 St. Louis baseball fans, whose headgear was made in Philadelphia and shipped 100 miles by rail.
>
> "In other words, 37 cents will pay that 30 per cent. freight increase on more than 300 hats sent all the way to the Mississippi."

Firmer Price for Copper

Copper is a little firmer in price and one report from New York is that practically all of the latest business has been on the basis of 19 cents a pound. Another statement is that considerable Lake tonnage has been sold at better than that figure. Inquiry for the red metal is increasing, especially by Connecticut brass and wire makers. Germany, France and England have bought a fair amount through the Copper Export Association.

Golf Stands High in Cox's Platform

Dayton, O., July 8.—Outside of the propositions set down in the Democratic platform the country can't be sure what the Democratic nominee will stand for.

Governor James M. Cox let it be known that before he tells just where he stands he will talk things over with Democratic party leaders, who are hurrying here from San Francisco.

STRONG GOLF PLANK.

The one out-of-the-platform principle to which the Governor adheres is golf. He believes in golf because the game takes those who play it into the country. It inspires them to own their own homes, the Governor regarding the owning of a home the fundamental of patriotism.

The Governor went to the Dayton Country Club and, after receiving the sort of ovation a presidential nominee might expect, he gave a brief address to the members and their guests. The Ohio State Golf Asociation is holding its annual tournament at Dayton.

The Governor was not facetious in his golf talk. The game is something of a passion with him and he confesses to being a considerable player. Lee Warren Jones, who introduced him, mentioned that the Governor had acquired many golf balls at his expense.

VERGES ON PROHIBITION.

There was one line of talk that verged on the prohibition question.

"Have you noticed," the Governor said, "that your morning game is better than your evening game, especially since——

"But I learn from long experience in public life that when skating on thin ice one should pass across it hastily."

Telegrams, letters, and in person, the stream of congratulations poured in upon Governor Cox.

"Your nomination revitalizes democracy. It will stir the Democratic heart of the nation with a reflection of a triumphant past and the forecast of a radiant future. To the bosom of one old Kentuckian it brings a flood of fighting memories along with the assurance of glorious victory."

RATES TO GO UP $1,300,000,000

Increase Expected to Go Into Effect as Government Ends All Control

Washington, July 8.—Freight and passenger rate advances reaching $1,300,000,000 will go into effect on the railroads of the country on September 1.

That will be the first tangible result of complete return of the roads to private ownership, unless the railroad heads strike an unexpected snag in their plans.

The Interstate Commerce Commission is considering the application of the roads for the gigantic rate advances, and is expected to announce a finding before July 15.

EXPECTED TO APPROVE.

While no official statement has come from the commission, it is reliably stated the members are inclined to grant the increases asked.

On September 1 the government ends the guarantee to the railroads and finally severs all connection with them. It is to meet the period when they will be without government backing that the transportation systems seek the more than one billion dollars in additional revenue.

Railroad operators in the hearings just concluded have admitted the complete and progressive demoralization of the roads since they were returned to private owners on March 1.

Pessimists among the operators doubt that even the tremendous advances asked at present will be sufficient. The more than one billion dollars sought in the present instance is, so the railroad heads say, mostly for the purpose of paying increases aggregating 22 per cent. to the railway workers.

MAY ASK FOR MORE.

They frankly expect other wage demands and hold out no hope that they will not be asking for permission to raise rates again within a few months.

Freight rates will be increased 30 per cent. in Eastern territory (including New England). In this way they plan to raise $1,017,000,000. They also want permission to raise between $250,000,000 and $300,000,000 in additional revenue by boosting passenger rates.

Under government control the railroads were operated at a deficit of only $1,000,000 a day. Wages were raised to an unprecedented degree.

When the roads were turned back to private ownership the government guarantee remained in force, to expire September 1.

Under the terms of that guarantee, the roads were allowed sufficient revenue to assure from 5½ to 6 per cent. profit on invested capital.

CORDELIA P. PRINGLE BRIDE AT NEWPORT, R. I.

Newport, R. I., July 8.—With large representations from the military and naval colonies, the wedding of Miss Cordelia Phythian Pringle, daughter of Captain Joel R. P. Pringle of the Naval War College class here, to Lieutenant John Danbridge Henley Kane, U. S. N., of the U. S. S. Mahan, was solemnized at Trinity Church. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride's parents, No. 87 Rhode Island avenue. Captain Pringle gave his daughter in marriage. Miss Cordelia Phythian Bookwalter of Philadelphia was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were: Misses Meta Hamilton Burrage, Mary Virginia Ramsay and Nancy Sumner King. The bridegroom was attended by his brother, R. Keith Kane. Ushers were Lieutenants Gordon Sherwood, Francis Gibson, B. B. Lanier and Robert L. Randolph of the United States navy and Messrs. Allan of Boston and Louis B. McCagg of Newport.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS GIVEN ON YACHTS AT NEWPORT

Newport, R. I., July 8.—Once more Newport Harbor was the scene of a large gathering of yachtsmen, the Eastern Yacht Club making this port a rendezvous and leaving for Block Island. There were also many arrivals from the New York Yacht Club and several social functions were given on the various craft. Commodore J. Pierpont Morgan gave a dinner on board the Corsair. Commodore Herbert M. Sears also had a party on the Constellation of the Eastern Yacht Club.

June Porphyry Production

Preliminary reports as to copper production in June by porphyry companies give the following figures: Utah Copper 10,000,000 pounds, Chino 4,010,069 pounds, Ray Consolidated 4,520,000 pounds, Nevada Consolidated 4,630,000 pounds. In every instance the June output exceeded that for May.

Steel Mills Are Active

U. S. Steel Corporation plants are operating at from 80 per cent. to 85 per cent. of capacity and the majority of independent companies are said to be exceeding 75 per cent. Activity in this industry has increased this month.

Tire Demand Is Enormous

The demand for tires is enormous and it is believed that sales this year will exceed $1,000,000,000, which is double the total for 1916, when the output was 18,500,000. It is estimated that 40,000,000 tires will be produced in 1920.

Bond Sales in June

Municipal bond sales in June totalled $47,778,066 as against $82,683,125 in the corresponding 1919 month, it is stated by the Daily Bond Buyer.

League Without U. S. Still Lives—Why Does It Not Do Its Work?

Upon the first anniversary, June 28, of the solemn signing of the Treaty of Versailles, the document that was to end war and usher in the reign of justice and sweet reasonableness, the chief London correspondent of the World, J. M. Tuohy, wired his paper sadly confessing that, in most important respects, this great dream was "still a dead letter." He added:

> The Covenant of the League of Nations, devised as the sure preventive of all wars and the foundation of the future peace of the world, not only remains inoperative through the abstention of the United States but is actually threatened with complete extinction. There are some thirty wars going on at the moment and the League of Nations is powerless to prevent the smallest of them.
>
> As to the Treaty itself, none of the Allied or Associated Powers has yet touched a mark of the money that Germany was ordered to pay in cash or bonds. it is now recognised by all the Allies except France that the financial burden proposed to be placed on Germany's shoulders by the treaty is such that no country could bear it and live.

The terms of the Treaty of Versailles expressly provided that the Treaty and the League Covenant should become effective immediately upon ratification by three of the five principal "allied and associated Powers."

Not only have four of the principal signatories—Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan—completed ratification, but they have been joined by twenty-five other nations.

It is, therefore, inaccurate to say that the League Covenant "only remains inoperative through the abstention of the United States" unless thereby is meant that the twenty-nine other signatories refuse to proceed to halt the thirty current wars unless backed by the money and men of the United States.

No doubt the inaction of those twenty-nine signatories is, in fact, due to their preference that the United States should furnish the power and the resources.

If the only way to end the thirty or more current wars in Europe and Asia, direct products of European imperialism, is to tax the cost of ending them upon the blood and treasure of the United States after what this country has already done, then it is just as well that the inert League should be "threatened with complete extinction."

Failure of the grandiose League to attain even a small semblance of vitality has not interrupted the practical aims of the chief victor in the world war.

Great Britain hoped to put the money and the men of the United States on the guard line of its colossal conquests.

But the failure of this expectation has not changed British purposes. It has simply compelled the astute rulers of His Majesty's realm to do a little more hustling.

The port of Danzig used to be a German port. The peace conference decided that it should be a Polish port. But another correspondent of the World, Arno Dosch-Fleurot, who recently made a study of conditions along the Baltic, yesterday cabled that Danzig has "come to be an outpost of the British Empire—a link in the chain of ports whereby the British Empire is drawing its red line about Europe." He adds:

> For the British Empire has set about the commercial conquest of Europe, and is proceeding with usual British assurance. It is treating Europe commercially just as in earlier periods it treated Asia and Africa. It is a new great stretch of territory to be brought under the British commercial flag.
>
> British business, diplomacy and arms are working steadily together toward this common end—to increase the power and importance of the British Empire. While Americans are running about the face of Europe on every conceivable variety of charitable and humanitarian errand, the British are sticking to business, and they are getting what they want.
>
> The British have always realized what other nations are now being compelled to see, that the way to get big results in international trade is to make the Foreign Office work for the extension of the trade empire. All the ports of Europe must be under British control, either politically or financially, preferably both. The Baltic has become a British sea.

The only international traffic now proceeding in Reval, Riga and Libau is shipped in British vessels and financed by British capital. For a year British trade agents have been in each of these ports planning for an advance grip upon trading the moment the blockade is relaxed. To a considerable extent the blockade has already been lifted so far as their interests are concerned.

But that is only one corner of the picture. Mr. Dosch-Fleurot continues:

> On the other side of Europe the general scheme is even more apparent. With the British at Gibraltar, Suez and by their own recent initiative at Constantinople, the Mediterranean is a British pond, and so, of course, is the Black Sea, which gives Odessa and Batoum and all the rich Black Sea littoral to British control.
>
> Not content with having a hand on an encircling line of ports, British firms have also bought up all the important steamer and freight lines on the Danube.

Americans have no just reason to resent this aggressive commercialism of the British provided it is conducted without prejudice to American rights.

Americans rather like to see other peoples up and doing. If there is any call for resentment among them it should rather be directed against the failure of their own Government to show equal practical concern for the advancement of American trade.

We need to choose officials who shall be as diligent in promoting American interests as British officials are diligent in promoting British interests.

Then, with our feet on the ground and with a clear eye to the welfare of our own country first, we can view with equanimity the energy of trade rivals and enter the competition joyfully, insisting only upon fair play.

WHEN TWO LIVE AS ONE

Every progressive woman should have some interests outside of her home, but she should not permit these interests to become so numerous and time-consuming that she cannot give her home the attention it requires to make it a real home in its truest sense.

The most domestic of men will lose much of his home-loving spirit if he finds it continually topsy-turvy, cheerless, with the meals irregular and poorly cooked and served to save time rather than produce palatableness.

Often the men who are found continually downtown go because they do not find the sort of comfort they like at home or companionship is lacking.

On the other hand, some women are driven to do all sorts of things to make up for the restlessness they feel when their husbands are home so little of the time.

Every family has its own problems in this respect, and it may be quite different from what the neighbors have figured out.

It takes two to make companionship. It takes at least two to make a satisfactory home, and both are responsible.

More Truth Than Poetry

It's a Barren Existence

By S. E. KISER

INCLINED to lose his equipoise
  While hearing the off-color tale,
Sniggs used to linger with the boys,
  His feet upon the polished rail.
The precious moments drifted past,
  He saw his dollars cross the bar,
And, having little change, at last
  He got aboard the night-owl car.

HE used to fumble at the lock
  And stumble through the crooked hall;
The striking of the hated clock
  Seemed louder than a trumpet call.
He never learned the way to sneak
  With noiseless footsteps through the dark;
The floor was always sure to squeak,
  The dog would never fail to bark.

SINCE hootch is not for Sniggs, they've found
  Him worthy of a raise in pay;
Collectors never dog him 'round,
  You'd hardly know the man today.
His neighbors have no cause to look
  With pity on his cheerful wife,
But Sniggs is damning those who took
  The joyous moisture out of life.

WHAT WOULD THE WORLD DO FOR ROUGH STUFF?

If every man were as good as his wife wants him to be, the vaudeville joke would become obsolete.

WEALTH IS NOT FOR ALL

"Don't you think it's a waste of time to send a boy to college for four years?"

"I'd hardly say that. The boys can't all be operating grocery stores or meat markets, you know."

Awaiting Ghost of Dr. Hyslop

MEDIUMS and spiritualists all over America are anxiously awaiting a visit from the ghost of Professor James Herbey Hyslop. Dr. Hyslop, one of the foremost investigators of psychic phenomena, died in New Jersey last month. Before his death he made arrangements for a test which, it is said, will conclusively prove the truth or falsity of spiritualism.

Somewhere in a steel safe, the location of which no living man knows, there is a letter signed and sealed by Dr. Hyslop. The combination of the safe is likewise a mystery. Professor Hyslop has promised, if possible, to return to earth in spirit form, get in communication with some medium, and reveal the location of the safe, the combination which will open it and the contents of the letter contained therein.

Full details of this ghostly bargain appear in the Magazine Section of Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Science has discovered the fossil remains of a prehistoric monster which may prove to be the ancestor of the fabled unicorn, the strange one-horned beast which appears on the British coat of arms. Dr. W. H. Ballou writes about this find in the Sunday Magazine Section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Consuelo Vanderbilt, now Duchess of Marlborough, is seeking her freedom through the divorce courts. Society is asking what the Duke has done to cause his wife's action—why is his latest offense so shocking, when, during twelve years of separation, the Duchess has refrained from seeking her freedom? The Boston Sunday Advertiser this coming Sunday contains the full story.

The second instalment of the Hope diamond mystery, the remarkable jewel which has cursed scores of lives in the past fourteen centuries, appears also in the Magazine Section. It is written by May Yohe, Lady Francis Hope, the latest victim of the malevolent gem.

WHY CAT CAN SEE WELL IN THE DARK

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Would you kindly tell me if a cat can see better or see at all in the dark?—J. L."

CATS unquestionably can see well in the dark, but whether they can see better in the dark than in the light is something that, perhaps, could only be definitely determined by themselves. Inasmuch as most of their hunting for food seems to be done at night it is reasonable to assume that they see at least as well by night as by day.

If you examine the eyes of a cat and experiment a little with the effects that variations of illumination plainly produce upon them, you will quickly become acquainted with the mechanism by means of which cats are able to see well both by day and by night. This mechanism consists in a very sensitive automatic control of the muscles which govern the width of the opening in the iris, called the pupil. The amount of light entering the eye and affecting the optic nerve, of course, depends upon the size or width of the opening.

In the human eye, the pupil is round, and its variations of size in accordance with changes of illumination resemble those of the "iris diaphragm" of a camera. The outline is always round, whether the opening be large or small. But the pupil of a cat's eye, like that of the eyes of all noctural mammals, changes from a more or less rounded outline when it is fully opened to a narrow ellipse, becoming in the extreme a mere vertical slit, when the opening is diminished.

It has been thought that a vertical slit may be peculiarly adapted to the perception of feeble light, since not only carnivorous mammals of nocturnal habits have that form of pupil, but it is found also in the eye of the owl.

In a bright light the cat's eye-pupil becomes hardly more than a line, showing how very sensitive the optic nerve must be to light, much more sensitive, no doubt, than that of a human eye. This extra sensitiveness, combined with the great range of opening of the pupil, accounts for the ability of the cat to see equally well by day and by night.

That does not imply, however, that the cat can see in absolute darkness. It only implies, as just said, the existence of a very great degree of sensitiveness to feeble light. But the simple fact that the pupil must be opened to its widest extent in the dark, proves that even the cat could not see without some light, however faint, or even imperceptible, it may be to our less sensitive organs of vision.

Letters to the Editor

All Camouflage

Editor Boston American:

I congratulate you most heartily on your timely, masterly editorials and cartoons against the un-American, unconstitutional "League of Nations." Keep up the good work. The Democratic platform indorses the "League of Nations" and bluffingly extends the hand of "sympathy" to suffering Ireland. No words are omitted to praise and lord the autocrat "Wilson," and the "jackass party" that shamefully has failed to do its duty towards the American people, and protect them from profiteering, and to lighten the burden of taxation (that in peace times takes the pennies away from poor children who buy ice cream cones). Naturally, the Republican party is all wrong, and it is sharply criticized and damned in the make-believe hell—create by the jokers, that fool no one (well informed). To add to the well-planned farce, Cummings said: "We can do nothing for Ireland, until we are a member of the League of Nations." What will be done then? Nothing! Why all this camouflage?

CONSTANT READER.
Newport, R. I.

THE WOMAN HATER OF ONLY 20 YEARS

By Winifred Black

HE'S twenty years old—and he's a woman-hater.

Oh, how he does hate women!

He sees them on the street and in the street cars, and whenever he goes to town there's a woman waits on him at the little restaurant where he eats—and his teacher was a woman when he went to school—and he has read about them in books, so, you see, he knows them very well indeed.

Oh, how he does hate them, and how well he understands their weaknesses!

They are cowardly and trifling, and selfish and mercenary, and deceitful—why, there never was anything like them for deceit!

They'll smile right up into your face just as sweet as you please, and have a letter from another fellow in their pockets all the time—you wouldn't believe it! And the way they plot and scheme, and the traps they lay—why, it's a shame, a perfect shame, and men are such poor, helpless creatures!

Just a Symptom

He looks quite like a fiend when he talks about women, this youthful woman-hater—and when he is talking about men or birds or apple pie or something he's really quite good looking.

It isn't fair to laugh at a man when he is getting the measles or is down with the mumps, and that's what is happening to this fellow, that's all.

He is passing through a disease of adolescence and his woman-hating is one of the symptoms.

Way down in his heart he's really crazy about them—he thinks about them by day and dreams of them by night.

He can't look at a woman as a plain human being at all.

Every girl he sees is either a beauty or a fright, and he is always measuring her by some secret standard of his own, and wondering if she would like him, and if he'd like her, and how she looks when she's cross and what she says when she is pleased—and he is afraid the girls know it, and he doesn't dare to speak to them for fear they will find him out—and there you are!

Sister's a Man-Hater

A woman-hater at twenty? It really is a good deal of a joke, isn't it?

And no one in the world is really patient with him and his absurd nonsense but some woman—oh, yes, there's one somewhere who worries about his being a woman-hater. She thinks it is too bad and wonders what she could do to change his mind.

I know, because she has written to me about it—and she says the young man's sister is a man-hater.

She says the same things about men that the brother says about women—only worse and a little oftener.

Oh, she knows men! There's a man station agent in the town where she goes to buy things, and the clerk in the grocery is a man—and the way he stares and carries on!

And the preacher—he's pretty good for a man. But he's not a man for all that and always wants the second piece of chicken and another slice of cake when he comes to dinner without ever looking to see whether there's plenty or not.

Isn't it terrible—two such noble young souls so bitterly at outs with the whole world?

No, it isn't terrible at all. It's funny, and it's pathetic, too—like the break in a boy's voice and the wrists and elbows and knees of a fourteen-year-old girl who's too big for short dresses and too young for long skirts.

Don't fret about these interesting young people, Aunty Jenny. Let them alone. They'll come out all right—the years will attend to that.

In the meantime, let's make up our own minds that men are good and bad and indifferent—and so are women—and that's all there is to this woman-hating and man-hating business.
